West Germany Shows How It Can Turn Out Supplies For Defense

BONN, Germany (P)—Disarmed West Germany showed American and West European military officials today how its booming industries can produce supplies for the future European Army.

With Army, Navy and Air Force officers of seven nations watching, the Germans unveiled an exhibition of equipment ranging from portable tents to massive trucks capable of transporting heavy artillery.

There were no weapons on display since the Allies still prohibit the production of guns and planes in West Germany.

The purpose of the exhibition was to demonstrate that the industrial Ruhr can become a major source of supply for the two million man European army before direct war industries are re-

Changes In Tax Laws Sought In Next Congress

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (P)—When Congress comes back in January, Rep. Daniel A. Reed is expected to present a big bundle of proposed changes in federal tax laws.

Reed, a New York Republican, is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles tax matters for the House, and chairman of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, made up of members of House and Senate.

In August 1951, Reed proposed at a meeting of the joint committee that an overhaul of federal tax laws begin. Over the years Congress has piled one tax law upon another, many times in haste to meet emergency need for revenue. The changes were often patches which did not cover holes.

The overhaul proposed by Reed began in July 1952. The joint committee's staff, composed of lawyers, accountants, economists and statisticians, received over 15,000 suggestions.

The joint committee broke down all the suggestions it received to about 40 topics of major importance.

The Ways and Means Committee held public hearings from last June 16 to Aug. 14. More than 500 witnesses were heard.

A drafting staff — lawyers who work for the House legislative counsel — will write the bill for Reed.

After Reed introduces the bill, his ways and means committee could hold more hearings. That would require months. When the committee finally agrees, it would produce its own bill. Then it would be up to the House, and later the Senate to approve.

Charges Aired In Chiropractic Case At Lansing

LANSING (P)—Two investigations of the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners loomed today.

Gov. Williams' staff was interviewing members of the three-man professional board about published charges of irregularities in its licensing system. Deputy Atty. Gen. Arthur T. Iverson said an investigation by his office was "probable."

The charges came to official attention when Dr. S. H. Cane of Muskegon, a board member, told the governor's office of "certain rumors" being circulated about the licensing procedure.

Individuals Not Named

Lawrence L. Farrell, the governor's executive secretary, said the other two members, Drs. H. E. McCorkle and Charles C. Lynch of Detroit, had agreed to come in today for a conference.

Farrell emphasized that Dr. Cane "made no specific accusations against any one." Dr. Cane declined to discuss the matter with reporters.

Farrell said: "When charges were published recently that a chiropractic student had been asked to pay for a copy of the examination questions of the State Basic Science Board, we asked Dr. Cane to give us a report. That is what he did."

Papers Missing

Dr. Cane emphasized to reporters that the chiropractic board had no connection with the basic board, which examines all applicants for hearing licenses before their respective professional boards examine them.

Farrell denied published reports that as many as 200 licenses were "missing" from board files.

"There is a discrepancy," he said, "in the numbering of licenses but this occurred in 1939 and 1940 long before the board, as now constituted, took office."

Atomic Bomb Siren Sends New Yorkers Running To Shelter

NEW YORK (P)—New Yorkers scurried for shelter today as sirens throughout the city signalled a practice atom bomb alert.

In theory, two atom bombs landed in Downtown Manhattan and in Queens in the city's biggest civil defense exercise.

All automobiles on the streets were forced to halt during the 15 minute drill. Pedestrians were directed to shelter areas by civil defense wardens. Workers in office buildings and residents of apartment houses filed to pre-designated safety areas.

Train, airplane and subway service continued in operation, most other activity in the metropolis came to a halt.

The shrill wail of hundreds of sirens came near the end of the morning rush hour with many persons still on their way to work.

But within moments the ordinarily teeming streets appeared virtually deserted.

Automobiles parked double as drivers and occupants ran into the shelter of nearby buildings.

The Rockefeller Plaza area, usually alive with tourists, was cleared within a minute after the alert except for a lone policeman standing near the ice skating rink.

Firebells in the buildings sounded simultaneously with the sirens to send office workers to inner corridors or underground areas.

On the waterfront, longshoremen and truck drivers halted work to seek cover.

At Pennsylvania Station, Travelers and railroad employees were cleared from the main concourse in less than a half minute and herded into waiting and baggage rooms.

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (P)—Dead-pan and silent, Roy Roger Schinagle Jr. waived preliminary examination on a first-degree murder charge today and was bound to the grand jury without bond.

Schinagle, 19-year-old Ohio Wesleyan University sophomore accused of the murder of his campus sweetheart, pretty Cynthia Pfeil, 19, of White Plains, N. Y., was taken before Justice of the Peace L. C. Schoenberger.

The youth's attorney, R. H. Stansbery, asked the court for permission to waive the preliminary hearing.

The youth was returned to his county jail cell immediately after the arraignment.

Schinagle, a fraternity boy who, he says, he wants to be a minister, confessed killing Cynthia a week ago Thursday night, Sheriff McAllister said.

At the time Stone was out on bond on a charge of hiring a thug to kill a man friend of his wife.

Mrs. Stone was in critical condition today at Wayne County General Hospital where her husband is employed. Stone was in the same hospital with superficial wounds.

Wayne Police Chief Lawrence C. Knox said Stone admitted hitting his wife on the head with the ax because "she took everything I had and ran around with other men."

"I wanted to kill her and do away with myself, too," the aged man told police.

"I guess I just messed everything up. It's too bad I didn't finish the job."

Stone had been free on bond since Aug. 27 when he was charged with asking a private detective to get him a hired killer. Police were informed and a detective posed as a killer and offered to kill a former roomer in Stone's home for $1,000.

Stone said he struck his wife yesterday when she was dialing the telephone. An alert telephone operator heard the woman's screams and called police.

The Stones had been married 21 years.

CHICAGO (P)—A 2½ year old boy, who was taken to a physician Thursday after police said his father admitted beating him, died in the Cook County Hospital today.

Physicians said the baby, James H. Dodd, suffered a broken right arm and other injuries. They said he also had pneumonia and was in an oxygen tent when he died. Cause of his death was not announced immediately.

Lt. William O'Brien of Town Hall police said the baby's father, James Dodd, 32, a factory worker, admitted he "slapped and spanked" his son twice Thursday. He was held in jail without charge.

O'Brien said Dodd told him the baby lapsed into a coma after he had spanked and slapped him the second time. He telephoned his wife, Ruby, 23, who was at work as a waitress, to come home. They took the baby to a doctor.

O'Brien said Dodd told him he beat his son for crying after he fell out of his high chair and for soiling his clothing and bed. The couple has a daughter, Ruby Ann, 4.

Big Psychology Battle Booked For Next Week

PANMUNJOM (P)—The Korean Repatriation Commission apparently wrangling over rules, today postponed until as late as next Thursday the start of Allied and Red efforts to coax home prisoners refusing repatriation.

No specific new date was set for the start of prisoner interviews, a phase of the truce which an Allied spokesman called "the psychological battle of our time."

The U. N. Command agreed to postponing the start of interviews, scheduled to begin Friday or Saturday.

Points Of Conflict

"It was not clear whether the neutral commission agreed to an Allied demand that the delay be deducted from the 90-day interview period, which the U. N. Command said must be counted from the time all unrepatriated prisoners are in neutral custody."

But a commission spokesman's statement that "it is understood" the 90 days will begin on the actual starting date of interviews would indicate that the Allied position may have been rejected.

Intimidation Anticipated

During the 90-day interview period, 22,600 former prisoners of the U. N. and 359 prisoners captured by the Reds—including 23 Americans—are to be questioned by their original side.

There are these main points of conflict between the Allied and Communist views:

1. The Communists insist on interviews with individual prisoners; the Allies demand groups of 25.

2. The U. N. Command wants the prisoner to have the right to refuse to listen to the explanations; the Communists demand

Treated Like Dog' Detroit Man Hacks His Wife With Axe

DETROIT (P)—Claiming "she treated me like a dog," 81-year-old William Stone was charged today with attempting to kill his 41-year-old wife with an ax.

Police said Stone hacked his wife, Allie, on the head, then slashed his own wrists with a paring knife at their home in suburban Wayne Thursday.

At the time Stone was out on bond on a charge of hiring a thug to kill a man friend of his wife.

Mrs. Stone was in critical condition today at Wayne County General Hospital where her husband is employed. Stone was in the same hospital with superficial wounds.

Pontiac Boy, 11, Shoots Father After Whipping

PONTIAC (P)—An 11-year-old boy, accused of shooting his father in the head Thursday with a 22-calibre rifle, blandly told Prosecutor Fred C. Ziem that "I blasted him."

"I got the idea from comic books," Roland Foster said. "I'd been planning it three weeks because he whipped me."

The father, Robert W. Foster, 50, a factory worker, was expected to recover from the wound. The bullet tore through his right ear and creased his skull, knocking him down.

Police said when they arrested the boy in a woods about a mile and a half from his Avon township home he thought he had killed his father. When they told him he was alive and asked if he weren't glad, Ronald replied: "Yeah, I guess so."

Until Ronald was caught by state police five hours after the shooting, the father had insisted the bullet was fired by accident as the boy cleaned the rifle, Ziem said.

But Ronald's 10-year-old sister Linda Mae bore out the boy's story that he'd shot deliberately.

Ziem described Ronald as a slow sixth-grade student and small for his age, and turned him over to juvenile authorities. His parents are estranged.

The prosecutor said Ronald had forced Linda Mae at gunpoint to call her father at work and say she was ill. The boy shot his father as he came into the front yard, about 15 feet from the door.

NEW ORLEANS (P)—The Coast Guard reported today that a tug and its tow barge with 50 men believed aboard, was helpless at the mouth of the Mississippi River as a hurricane plowed through the Gulf of Mexico about 430 miles south of Pensacola, Fla.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the hurricane, with winds up to 90 miles an hour was headed generally in the direction of New Orleans on its present course.

"But," the bureau added, "while nothing is certain, it looks like it will change its course to the north."

A Coast Guard report said the tug Margaret Roote and her 263-foot barge, Herman B. were prevented by the weather from making a turn into southwest pass at the mouth of the river.

The vessels were caught in a position where they couldn't get in or out of the river and were at the mercy of the wind and sea.

LOS ANGELES (P)—A legionnaire says the government should fly to Korea the mothers of 23 American prisoners listed by a Communist correspondent as having refused repatriation.

Harry Myers, director of special events for the Los Angeles County Council of the American Legion, said Thursday night he was urging National Commander Art Connell in Indianapolis to put the matter before the government.

"It would be a tremendous psychological victory for us over the Reds if the mothers were able to talk their sons into returning to freedom," Myers said.

Newberry City Plant Blows Up

NEWBERRY (P)—An overheated diesel engine in the Newberry City Power and Light Co. plant blew up today injuring one man and causing damage estimated at $75,000.

State police said an overheated bearing touched off the explosion when it came into contact with the engine's lubricating oil.

The blast blew out the rear wall of the cement block power station.

Jack Stimac, 45, of Newberry, an attendant, suffered flash burns.

Light and water service to this Upper Peninsula community was knocked out for several hours by the explosion which occurred at 9:50 a.m.

Engineers transferred the city's main electrical wires to a generator at the Atlas Corp. plant here. It will provide sufficient current for the city until repairs can be made on the power station.

C&NW Flagmen Removed Here

Three regulars and one relief flagman have been removed from the Stephenson Avenue crossing by the Chicago & North Western Railroad and train crews are now doing the flagging, according to George C. Stuart, Peninsula Division superintendent.

Ground cables have been laid in preparation for the installation of automatic flasher warning signals at the crossing, as approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission on petition of the C&NW.

"We anticipate the automatic signal will be installed and in service by Nov. 1," said the Division superintendent.

Meanwhile the crossing is not unprotected. It was pointed out, for orders are that a member of the crew of every train operating across Stephenson Avenue would act as flagman. The order became effective here at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

Similar train-flagman protection is in operation at other crossings in the Division. At Menominee's Seventh St. and Ogden Ave. crossing flagmen were also removed on Wednesday.

Removed from the crossing and no longer serving as flagmen at Stephenson Ave. crossing in Escanaba were Victor G. VanEtten, Thomas D. Nelson and John R. Shrin, and relief man Fred J. King.

Approximately 800 persons, including several hundred children, who have benefitted from Higley's constant community activities on their behalf, lined the airport fence as the plane carrying Higley, Mrs. Higley, Admiral Joel T. A parade, followed by a testimonial dinner sponsored by veteran groups in the city highlighted the honors Menominee accorded Higley.

Today, in company with Admiral Joel T. Boone, the new veteran administrator is visiting the veterans' hospital in Iron Mountain.

AERONAUTICS COMMISSION—Meeting in Escanaba yesterday the Michigan Aeronautics Commission approved funds for downstate airports and pledged funds on a matching basis for development of airports at Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Marquette. Pictured in the House of

Natural Gas For U.P. Still Is Possibility

MARQUETTE—The same application for permission to divert Alberta Province natural gas to uses in the Upper Peninsula, Wisconsin and Minnesota, which the Canadian Conservation board turned down recently, will be re-submitted in a few weeks by Mid-Continent Pipelines Limited.

This information reached the industrial commission of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau yesterday, on the heels of the announcement that Cliffs Power and Peninsula Power company, of Houghton, plan to erect a steam generating plant in Marquette, on a waterside site just south of the L. S. & I. Railway ore dock. It included information that the application would ask for diversion of between 250 and 300 million cubic feet of gas per day, nearly one-third more than the original application called for.

It is believed the board will act on the application on or before the first week in November, and there is every prospect it will be granted, because it contains no reference to the Toronto industrial field, which will be supplied by the Mid Continent's two competitors and also by gas piped from United States fields.

Market Outlook Good
Glen Wilton, president of Mid-Continent, who met with the commission here recently, expressed himself hopefully in regard to the application.

He was quoted as saying that natural gas for a fuel supply for the Upper Peninsula's bigger industries, iron and copper mining, is practically assured. Everywhere he has gone to investigate markets, he said, he has found tremendous acceptance, which have increased his company's potential from 200 million cubic feet per day to nearly 300 million. When he met mining company industrialists and engineers, he already had assurance of the nearly 200 million minimum and since then the demand has arisen appreciably.

In view of developments which have occurred almost hourly and daily since the meeting in Marquette, it is believed Mid Continent can meet price limits set by the industrialists for bulk fuel delivery of 30 cents or under per thousand cubic feet. The main use for the bulk of the 300 million cubic feet per day would be for power developments mainly in connection with low grade ore beneficiation and the smelting of copper.

Gas For Power Plant?
The use of gas for fuel in the proposed new Marquette generating plant also has been favorably discussed since the promise of an available supply. It was projected originally as a generating plant using pulverized coal for fuel to drive steam turbines. The gas proposal makes possible a complete change in the engineering plans.

Mr. Wilton was quoted as saying that, having given up the Toronto field, which was the subject of a big controversy before the

Ludington Blacktop Coating Scheduled; Will Start Monday

A maintenance coating of blacktop surfacing to smooth the present bumpy section of Ludington Street from Stephenson Ave. to 16th St. will be started Monday, City Engineer Loren Jenkins reported today.

No parking will be permitted in that block starting Monday morning until the work is completed.

Purpose of the application is to seal off holes and smooth out the surface. The materials to be used are those remaining after the regular street surfacing program for the year was completed.

The project is somewhat of an experiment, Jenkins noted, to determine whether such a comparatively low-cost surfacing might not be successfully applied to additional sections of Ludington Street in coming years.

In other street improvement the State Highway Department has completed the blacktop resurfacing of center sections of US-2-41-35 where the pavement was widened to four lanes in the 23rd and Ludington Street area.

Manitowoc Gets Flight Service

North Central Airlines (formerly Wisconsin Central) Nov. 1 will inaugurate daily service to Manitowoc, Wis., Howard A. Morey, airlines president, today announced.

The city of 28,000 population, located on the western shore of Lake Michigan, recently re-built its airport, equipping it completely for North Central DC-3 day and night operations.

Manitowoc will be served on the airlines' Chicago — Green Bay route; however exact flight schedules have not as yet been determined.

Service to the city, authorized last October by the Civil Aeronautics Board, has been delayed pending the necessary airport improvements. Construction, begun a year ago, includes a paved 3,800-foot north-south runway, taxi strips and ramp area; installation of runway and taxi-strip lights; erection of a rotating beacon and remodeling of the passenger terminal building.

North Central next month will install radio navigation and communication equipment, weather station, flight operations and passenger service facilities at the Manitowoc airport. Prior to inauguration of service, the airline will conduct a series of survey flights to check navigation aids and to familiarize pilots and flight dispatchers from central flight control in Minneapolis with the new route, Manitowoc area and airport.

boat, Williams, will be presented after the dinner. Card tables will be set up for those who wish to play.

Young People Of Episcopal Diocese Plan Convention

The Episcopal young people of high school age of the Diocese of Northern Michigan will hold their annual fall convention next week at the Little Lake conference center. According to the announcement made by the Diocesan office, the Rev. Herman Page of Crystal Falls, the Diocesan youth adviser, has arranged the details of the program with the help of the youth commission. This group met Tuesday at the Diocesan office to discuss the final arrangements and plans.

The conference will open Thursday, Oct. 1, with supper. Mrs. Thomas Perry of Crystal Falls will again have charge of the mess hall. Various conferences, workshops and study periods will make up the main part of the program. The Rev. James R. Whittemore, rector of St. James' Church in Sault Ste. Marie, will lead a section on methods and programs for young people's groups. The Very Rev. Joseph S. Dickson of St. Stephen's, Escanaba, and Ben F. Helmer from St. John's, Negaunee, will also assist in the conference. Bishop Page will serve as chaplain and conduct several conferences as well as the closing communion service.

Already more registrations have come in than the Conference can accept. To date delegates have registered from St. Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba, Wilson, Iron Mountain, Crystal Falls, Iron River, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette and Menominee. The youth commission and the bishop hope that this meeting will conclude the preliminary work and enable the diocesan group to adopt a permanent constitution.

Plan Workshop On School Lunch

An area school lunch workshop for administrators and cooks of Delta, Menominee and Schoolcraft counties will be held Oct. 1, Thursday, beginning at 9:30 a. m. in the Escanaba Senior High School home economics room.

This workshop will give the opportunity to those attending to discuss all phases of the school lunch program. Similar meetings will be held in five other Upper Peninsula cities during the week.

Two demonstrations will be held during the day. The first will be presented by Hal Bolin, food specialist, U. S. Department of Agriculture, on "Preparing U.S.D.A. commodities for the school lunch." In the afternoon, a fish cookery demonstration is planned. Mrs. Dorothy Robey, home economist, U. S. Department of Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service, will present "How fishery products can be prepared and served economically, efficiently, and effectively in your school lunch program."

Besides the demonstrations, a panel discussion will be held on menu planning, buying practices, record keeping, U.S.D.A. commodities and nutrition. Also, a problem census where each person will have an opportunity to present problems will be held.

IRON MOUNTAIN—The Brotherhood of Zion Lutheran Church at Metropolitan has sponsored again this year a unique God's Acres potatoes project which proved successful last year in stimulating interest and cooperation and providing revenue for worthy activities. Farmers of the congregation have planted Burbank potatoes on their acres set aside for the project. The potatoes will be dug next Saturday.

IRON RIVER—Pretty Mary Oleksa, 21, the foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Kopinski of Iron River, was a surprise winner of a recent contest to choose Miss Catalina of 1953 at colorful Catalina island off the coast of southern California. A graduate of Iron River high with the class of 1950, Mary was persuaded to enter the competition which was open to those vacationing on the island at the time. At first she did not care to compete, but friends prevailed upon her to do so, and her victory was a surprise to Mary.

IRONWOOD—The Luther L. Wright high school band of Ironwood, won its fourth Logging Congress championship in competition with 11 other bands at Rhinelander last Saturday. This coming Saturday the band will appear in Duluth's Fall Festival parade, the trip being financed by Ironwood merchants, parents of band members and others.

Anti-Polio Serum:

Ask Parents Register As Blood Donors By Monday

The registration of volunteers as blood donors for the procurement clinics to be held in Escanaba and Gladstone next week is "very slow" and registration is being continued through Monday, William E. Butler, blood drive chairman, announced today.

"We urge parents to register and donate blood, so that the vitally needed supply of gamma globulin, the anti-polio serum, will be ready when an epidemic strikes," Butler said.

Registration can be made between 7 and 9 tonight at a special table to be set up on the sidewalk at Ludington and 11th Streets; or on Saturday or Monday by telephoning the Red Cross office, No. 97.

Quota 318 Pints

Persons who have received registration cards are asked to fill them out and mail them or take them to the Red Cross office before Monday night.

The Delta County quota for the blood clinic is 318 pints, which means that at least 318 persons must register as donors. So far the total number registered is less than 100.

Plasma and other blood fractions and proteins are produced in State Health Department laboratories and returned free to local hospitals and physicians for the people of the county. The only charge is that for professional services incidental to their use.

Plasma Supply Low

The State Health Department is in charge of the clinic at which the blood will be collected. Clinics will be held at the following places and hours:

Sept. 30—Gladstone from 3 to 9 p. m.

Oct. 1—Escanaba, Presbyterian Church, 3 to 9 p. m.

Oct. 2—Escanaba, Presbyterian Church, 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Persons registering as donors will be given appointments to attend the clinic of their choice at the hour most convenient for them.

Under the blood procurement program each community is responsible for supplying enough of the precious fluid to meet the demands of its residents. The supply of plasma is "dangerously low" at this time in Delta County, Butler said.

IRON MOUNTAIN—"I'm home. I'm happy and it's wonderful, but I wish some of the boys who are still back there were here to share it with me."

This was SFC. Joseph T. Gardiner, as he relaxed at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gardiner, 108 Green Street, East Kingsford, after 33 months in a North Korean prison camp. Arriving here Wednesday from Chicago, accompanied by his wife, Sgt. Gardiner was greeted at the Milwaukee Road railway station by more than 2,000 residents of the community, shouting a welcome.

Colorful Greeting
The sergeant, with his wife, their seven-year-old daughter, Stella, and other members of his family walked from the train to a waiting automobile along a path lined with flags and colors held by veterans organizations and their auxiliaries, and was taken immediately to his parent's home. Stepping from the train, the sergeant smiled and waved a greeting to the crowd.

A "Rough Time"
Later, at his mother's home, Sgt. Gardiner briefly discussed his three years as a prisoner-of-war. "There is no use pulling any punches; we got rough treatment by the Reds," Gardiner told an Iron Mountain News reporter.

"I was captured on Dec. 1, 1950, after being trapped by Red forces. Back in those days, when the war was at its height, the Reds didn't worry about the treatment of prisoners," Gardiner related.

"Do you know what they fed us?" he asked. "They gave us a handful of hard corn, like they feed chickens, twice a day. And that's all we got. The main object of the Reds was to lower our resistance to such a point that we lost any interest in fighting or returning home."

"I spent 33 months and one day in that prison camp. Towards the end the food did get a little better, but truce negotiations were then in progress and the Communies did it strictly for propaganda purposes. That was typical of their tactics."

A Great Day
"I'll always remember Aug. 1 of this year," Gardiner said. "That was the day the Reds told us that the Armistice had been signed. They didn't mention whether we would be freed. As it turned out, the sergeants were the last to be released. For some reason they figured we were the most radical anti-Communists of the bunch."

"Sure, they tried to swing us over to Communism. We were forced to go to lectures, where they read us the theory of Marxism. The punishment for failing to cooperate with the 'teachers' was to put us in a hole in the ground that was six feet deep and two feet wide. I spent three solid months under these conditions because I refused to cooperate."

Undersheriff Likes New Law

Undersheriff Cully Johnson said this morning the state's new driver's license law, under which a license will expire on the operator's birthday every third year, is an improvement over the old law because people will remember more easily that their licenses are due to expire.

The state will save money under the new law because it will not have to mail renewal notices out, Undersheriff Johnson said in citing another of the law's advantages.

Most drivers whose licenses expire after Oct. 2, which is when the new law takes effect, will gain free time on their licenses, the undersheriff said. The law says that licenses which expire after Oct. 2 have been automatically extended until the licensee's next birthday after the date of expiration.

"Some people are going to gain 9-10-11 months," Johnson said. Only regular operators' licenses will expire on the driver's birthday. Chauffeurs' licenses must be renewed when they run out, and date of expiration has nothing to do with the chauffeur's birthday. Johnson noted licenses will cost more, beginning Oct. 2. A license obtained for the first time will cost $3.00, and renewal of an operator's license will cost $1.50. Each cost $1.25 under the old law.

Chauffeurs' licenses will cost the same as before, $2.00.

The undersheriff noted that persons may apply for a new license beginning three months after their birthdays. There will be no grace period after a birthday, however.

Building East-West Runway Is Needed For Better Air Service

A large step forward in the improvement of airport conditions at Escanaba and consequently an improvement in commercial air service to this city has been taken with the decision of the State Board of Aeronautics to provide matching funds for development of the east-west runway here.

The City of Escanaba is prepared to provide its share of the cost of the project and has set aside $20,000 for that purpose in its current budget.

The airport improvement project looked somewhat shaky when Congress adjourned without appropriating federal funds for airport improvements. In the past the federal government has appropriated half of the cost of airport projects, with the state and local governments providing the other half.

The need for improving the Escanaba airport is indicated by the number of times that commercial air flights are cancelled out of here because of adverse winds.

Calling The Tune

A great many people still seem to believe that it is possible to get all kinds of handouts from the federal government and still keep our freedom and independence.

They should ponder this sentence from a 1942 U. S. Supreme Court decision: "It is hardly lack of due process for the government to regulate that which it subsidizes."

The Court simply said, in judicial language, that when government pays the bills, it can call the tune to which we must all dance.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Here are some more of the colorful slang terms invented by players and sports writers to convey the excitement and thrills that make baseball truly our national game.

Let's see how many I can stump you on, how many words you will fail to identify at first glance. After yesterday's warmup, you should be ready to line a few over the fence. I'll try not to feed you any gopher balls, though. And may the better team win!

Bases loaded—when there are runners on first, second and third bases.

Gopher ball—a pitch which the batter hits for a home run.

Cripple—ball pitched when the count on the batter is three balls and one strike, so-called because the pitcher usually needs to "groove it" for a strike and therefore eliminates trickery from his delivery.

Pull a rock—make a stupid or "bone-head" play.

Clutch hitter—the kind of hitter who can be counted on to deliver a hit when it is most needed.

Money player—one who can always be counted upon to perform well when most is at stake. The New York Yankees have been famous for years as the top-ranking group of "money players."

Sun field—that portion of the outfield where the fielder has to face the sun directly.

Pick off—to catch a base runner off base by an unexpected throw from the pitcher or catcher.

Mound, rubber or hill—the slightly elevated pitcher's box in the center of the diamond.

Twinn bill or doubleheader—two games played between the same two teams on the same day.

Two-night doubleheader—two games between the same teams on the same day, the first starting in late afternoon, the second being played under lights at night.

The Doctor Says . . . Mumps Is Most Contagious Of All Childhood Diseases

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Mumps is probably the most highly contagious of all of the so-called childhood diseases. It is caused by a virus which appears to be spread with the greatest of ease to susceptible persons and can even be carried by a healthy person from one child to another.

Mumps like the other contagious diseases is more common in children than grownups and when the adults do get it they wish they had had it while young. It is not pleasant at any age.

It is inconvenient, somewhat painful, especially when chewing certain foods, and does not flatter the appearance. It is not completely harmless since complications in the kidneys, joints, or brain are not unknown.

But the most feared complication is what is spoken of as "going down"—involvement of the sex glands. This is much more common in men and does not occur at all before maturity which is an argument for having the disease early, if at all.

Studies have been made on this complication. In general it seems that it doesn't flights daily operate to and from Escanaba, both north and south. The flight schedules are well loaded and there is reason to hope that at least one additional round trip flight daily may be scheduled.

The state program provides for improvements of airports at Iron Mountain and Marquette, as well as Escanaba. Since all of these cities are on the route of North Central Airlines, the improvement of airports in these cities naturally will encourage expansion of commercial air service to these cities.

"BIASED MILLIONAIRES" (Green Bay Press-Gazette)

Senator Paul Douglas, Democrat of Illinois, is a resourceful man but handling Mr. Truman's direction to lambast the Republicans for turning the government over to millionaires was not easy, even for a former University of Chicago professor. To differentiate the millionaires, Douglas called the Republican ones "biased millionaires."

As multimillionaire Harriman heard, the expression, he wiped a tear from his eye. Multimillionaire Lehman, always a critical gentleman, was not so sure the expression was pat. Multimillionaire Field has his forehead screwed out of shape as he tried to think fast of how the expression would go over. Multimillionaire Kerr politely clapped his hands, still uncertain the crowd was not laughing. Kerr's gift to America was Wallgren, the Truman crony who, with Senate approval, was made head of the Federal Power Commission. This appointment, incidentally, costs residents of Wisconsin and Michigan about $5,000,000 a year in illegal natural gas rates.

The Democratic multimillionaires are usually noted as a tightwad crew. They seem to think the Secretary of Defense, Mr. Wilson, who suffered a tax of over half a million dollars in surrendering his stock in General Motors and who gave up a contract for the future with that company, is a little loco. And loco is biased, too, in certain directions, but not the way Senator Douglas meant it.

The next thing we know Mr. Truman will be demanding a campaign against the Republicans on the ground of corruption. He may claim that all the scalawags caught red-handed during his term in office were Republicans in disguise trying to undermine the party of the donkey.

CRACKING DOWN ON NOISE (Milwaukee Journal)

A very quiet handclap for the Milwaukee police for cracking down hard on violators of the city muffler and unnecessary noise ordinances! It would help a wee bit to reduce the needless, irritating and sleep-breaking racket of a big city.

Noise has become one of the real problems of the day wherever many people live, work or play close together. It has been a problem, however, about which very little has been done.

Planes that could be quieted make life miserable for those living near airports. Factory machines that could be hushed keep near-by residents awake. Then there are the blaring radios and television sets, juke boxes, "loud" parties, clanking trucks, gasoline lawn mowers, loud-speakers at places of amusement and the impatient horn honkers. Even at the lakes, where people seek rest and escape from the city noise, there are the roaring speedboats.

If excessive, unnecessary noise were only just a nuisance, it would be more tolerable. But excessive noise does something to people's nerves and their efficiency, and sometimes impairs their hearing. Just how much real damage it does, science hasn't fully determined. There needs to be more intensive research into that subject as well as into the means for suppressing avoidable noise.

The more credit you get for what you do, the less credit you need for what you buy.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—There's been a lot of speculation as to what President Eisenhower meant by the use of that ominous word "tax" when in Boston he said that "no sacrifice, no labor, no tax, no service" was too hard for us to bear in defense of our freedom.

Light may be thrown on this statement when you know that a week or ten days ago the President gave the green light to his fiscal aides to prepare a far-reaching national sales tax.

The details have been carefully guarded, and may be subject to change, but the present plan is to propose to congress an unprecedented "federal manufacturers' excise tax."

Treasury experts concluded some weeks ago that such a tax was necessary but were hesitant about putting it forward in the face of certain hostility on Capitol Hill. However, Treasury aides figure that if the new tax doesn't have to be collected by the retailer every time he makes a sale, it won't be quite so unpopular with the public.

The Treasury has taken as its model the Canadian sales tax which exempts food and a few other essentials, but hits almost all other consumer products. It will be collected from the manufacturer, not the retailer.

Ike was told there would be terrific resentment from some groups in congress at the proposal of a national sales tax, but despite this he indicated he was ready to take the political consequences. He has great confidence in Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, feels that anything he proposes must be sound.

The above tax discussion took place before Congressman Dan Reed of New York sounded off against a national sales tax. Nevertheless, White House insiders say the President's hasn't changed his mind. Hence the Boston speech build-up.

Note—On April 16 this column published a secret report prepared by Carl Byoir, the high-powered publicity mogul, for Assistant Secretary of Commerce Craig Sheaffer, the fountain-pen man now resigned, proposing a concealed propaganda campaign to put across a national sales tax. It proposed using unsuspecting civic organizations, TV programs, trade associations, etc., to educate public opinion and build up the right atmosphere for a sales tax.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

When Herbert Brownell first took office he let it be known he would select the highest type lawyer possible for the office of Solicitor General. He even sought the advice of the late chief justice, Fred Vinson, to help pick such a man. Eight months have now passed, and Brownell still hasn't been able to pick a Solicitor General . . . Adlai Stevenson was about to be hauled off to another Chicago cocktail party by Congressman Harold Cooley of North Carolina last week, when Margaret Truman grabbed his arm and kept him at the one where he was guest of honor . . . remarked Bill Kittrell of Texas at the Chicago Democratic dinner: "When you see Chip Robert, Ed Pauley and Dick Reynolds, three ex-treasurers of the Democratic party, turn out in full force, then you can be sure things are picking up for the Democrats." . . . Bob Hutchins, former president of the University of Chicago, is being groomed by John B. Elliott to run for the senate from California . . . Sen. Theodore Francis Green, one of the few millionaires in the U. S. senate devotes part of his time to helping refugees and the foreign-born . . . Archie Underwood of Lubbock, Texas, director of the Denver and Fort Worth Railroad, was one Texan who remained loyal to Stevenson-Truman last year. The other day at Chicago he found himself with the best table at the Democratic dinner—right under Truman's nose.

SAN FRANCISCO'S CHINATOWN

After the State Department proposed that the Korean peace conference be held in San Francisco, Honolulu or Geneva, someone suddenly woke up to a horrible thought. As a result, the State Department has been quietly needling our British and French friends to get the Korean conference held in almost anyplace except San Francisco or Honolulu, Geneva, Switzerland is still okay.

What the State Department woke up to was the large numbers of Chinese in both San Francisco and Honolulu and that this might cause two complications:

1. Chinese Communist delegates at the peace conference might be in danger of assassination from the Nationalist Chinese.

2. Non-Nationalist Chinese in San Francisco's Chinatown or in Honolulu might be swayed by Communist Chinese propaganda and stage demonstrations.

So the State Department now wishes it had proposed Geneva only as the meeting place for the Korean peace conference.

Summer is always when more and more people see red—the sunburn on their friends.

No Thrill Like the Opening Kickoff

Sculptress-Suffragette Not Giving Up Her Dream At 107

By PATTI SIMMONS

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Any day now mail delivery to the old row house where Adelaide Johnson lives will start picking up.

On Sept. 26 others will bring birthday greetings in person to this 107-year-old woman who's made plenty of Washington headlines in her day.

The tiny, blue-eyed centenarian is the official sculptress and one of the few survivors of the suffragette greats.

She knew and lived with Susan B. Anthony. She shook hands with Abraham Lincoln. In her life she has traveled by stage coach and sky coach, and has crossed the Atlantic 76 times.

As in other years, a birthday cake and a speck of wine will be but a part of Mrs. Johnson's birthday celebration. Probably admirers will deluge her with enough orchids to turn the head of a debutante. One recent year she received 103 of them.

There have been birthdays when Mrs. Johnson received friends at a reception held right beside her famous "Woman's Monument," which stands in the crypt of the Capitol. Other works of Adelaide's are in Rome and London.

She studied in Europe under Monteverde and was presented to Queen Victoria. Mrs. Johnson is especially proud of what George Bernard Shaw once said about her work. "Those are living people," is the way he put it.

For some years now Adelaide's birthdays have been duly heralded by the local press, but not just because of her age or her art, however. The principal reason is that either Mrs. Johnson or her statues, or both, have been threatened with public eviction, no less than 21 times.

These last seven years she's been able to celebrate her birthday with a roof over her head only because of the kindness of a neighbor. As Septembers rolled around she found it more and more difficult to make ends meet. Then in 1939 her small residence and studio-museum was sold at public auction when she couldn't pay the taxes.

But the distraught little woman simply refused to stand by and watch her dream go under the auctioneer's hammer. One day she had hoped to give her museum to the American people. It was to have been a place for the government to preserve the work of early American artists.

So she called the Salvation Army and asked them to send over a man with a sledge hammer. At her own word he began to demolish her life's work, nose and nose, chunk by chunk. She also called the press. Stunned reporters took one look at the chipped statuette and whipped back to their typewriters.

Result was that Mrs. Johnson, plus a number of her works which had escaped the sledge, stayed on. Friends pitched in now and then to help with the rent whenever a new eviction was threatened. Once the late Rep. Sol Bloom paid a back gas bill for Adelaide.

Nevertheless, seven years ago, Mrs. Johnson was forced to move out and leave her statues behind because the furnace was frozen and the place was in such disrepair. Since then she's been living with a neighbor, Mrs. Meta

ADELAIDE JOHNSON AND "MONUMENT." Beside her famous women's statue in the crypt of the Capitol, she chats with Rep. Victor Wickersham, who thinks she should get $25,000.

Grace Keebler.

Now only her statues are threatened with eviction, fairly regularly. That is whenever Adelaide falls behind in her $73 a month museum rent.

The fact that vandals break into the place and leave a trail of scattered suffragette records around the deserted studio worries Mrs. Johnson almost as much as the rent. Most of her carefully preserved documents on the woman's movement are the only ones in existence.

But nothing takes the spunk out of Adelaide for long. She's come through a lot of crises in 107 years.

There was the time she fell down an elevator shaft. Adelaide refused to believe the doctor when he told her she would never walk again. She not only walked again, but got herself a fine case of frozen fingers when she went blithely off to Europe on a cattle boat. Only a bit less heroic were the onion sandwiches the artist lived on one year when she went broke in Rome.

There have been bills introduced in Congress to help Mrs. Johnson. One by Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire; another by Rep. Victor Wickersham of Oklahoma. The latter believes the government should pay her $25,000 for her Capitol monument.

This way she could repurchase and restore her studio into which, during her life, she figures she put something like $60,000.

Should her museum—dream come true by Sept. 26, 1954, Mrs. Johnson feels she'll really have something to celebrate.

Good Evening . . .

LUDINGTON STREET — Perhaps you may not have noticed, but many of the shops and business places and other buildings along Ludington Street are presenting a better appearance than they have for many years.

Since Escanaba is largely a "two street town" so far as business is concerned, improvements along Ludington Street and Stephenson Avenue are vitally important if business is to turn a shining face to its customers.

Many of the stores are installing modern new fronts that appeal to the eye and make a better setting for merchandise displays.

This trend locally was started not so long ago by Thor Lieuhang at his music store. It stands as one of the better examples of store front remodeling in the downtown business section.

LOOKING UP—One of the major front remodeling jobs now under way in the downtown section is at the Fair Store, where glass doors and wide expanses of window give Ludington Street's big department store a new look.

The Photo Art Shop has a new and modern front, if you haven't noticed it before.

Baum's hardware looks better inside from both the outside and the inside, which is to say that lowered ceilings and new lighting have brought the interior up to date in appearance. Other work has been done in the building not visible from the street.

The two downtown theaters some time ago were given a lift with new doors, new paint and new signing.

One of the major remodeling jobs was at the Legion Club, where a whole new brick front was constructed.

SAFETY FACTOR—While we're on the subject of improvement it should be mentioned that many of the business places have constructed new sidewalks—even if the store front wasn't given a face lifting.

Greater pedestrian safety as well as a more attractive appearance is the result.

Among the major clean-up jobs in the downtown section was the sand blasting given the Escanaba National Bank building. The good architectural lines of the building came to public attention after the cleaning.

Farther east on Ludington Street there have been additional improvements to the House of Ludington. Transformed by paint and imagination, the old hostelry has been restored to its traditional appearance.

THE TOTAL EFFECT—There have been many other remodeling and improvement jobs up and down Ludington Street.

The Eagles Club is now installing a new front. Ed Marenger has completed the remodeling of his service station.

Percy Rosemurgy of Northern Motor Company is ready to start construction of a new showroom and storage warehouse. This building will replace two dilapidated little residences that previously occupied the lot east of the Ford garage.

The total effect of the improvements along Ludington has yet to be realized, for much of the work is still in progress. When it is completed the "main stem" will appear more pleasing and prosperous.

OPTIMISTIC VIEW — While checking around for information for this column I consulted Donald Ness of the Ness Glass Company.

He informs me that Sav-Mor Market on Stephenson Avenue is to have a new front. Work will start soon.

One of the earlier improvement jobs in that area was the remodeling and new front at Skradski's tavern and hotel on Sheridan Road.

No doubt we have failed to compile anywhere near a complete list of remodeling jobs in the business area. But omissions can be overlooked because it was not the intention to do more than emphasize that businessmen generally are facing the future with considerable optimism.

Questions and Answers

Q—I understand Congress approved a proposal to send $100 million worth of farm surpluses to needy friendly nations. Can we spare that much?

A—Legislation would authorize the President to send to friendly peoples abroad $100 million in surplus agricultural commodities. This would be one-thirtieth of the more than $3 billion worth of government-owned surplus farm products Commodity Credit Corporation has in storage under various Agriculture Department programs.

Women Stretch Dollars, Make The Best Bankers

B. DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Women, says a woman banker, often make the best bankers.

This may be because they have had long experience with stretching a dollar, guarding a piggy bank and wrestling with the grocery budget.

Also, women take a realistic view of money. Men are likely to talk of it in large round numbers, adding a few digits to make things sound good. Women will announce the price of a dress as $12.98, and men will describe it as "somewhere under $15." That extra $2.02 means a pair of stockings and a manicure to a woman, but to a man it's not worth talking about.

It's an attitude of mind, says Ann Javits, one of the first women in America to hold an executive position in a metropolitan bank. Miss Javits, vice president of the Commercial State Bank and Trust Co., of New York, has been with this institution for 29 years. She started in 1924 as a secretary. She worked in practically every department before her advancement to assistant vice president in 1951, and this year to vice president and manager of the personal loan division. Says she:

"Big business is people. That's what it always has meant to me. I always have tried to make personal contact with as many customers of the bank as possible. I can tell more in five minutes of personal conversation with a man than I can by pages of credit references. You have to bank on character."

During her long career in banking Miss Javits has stressed the personal element. She explains: "Too many people think of banking as a cold, impersonal business. Actually it should be the exact opposite. A bank must deal with people and invest in character if it is to succeed. A hand shake and a greeting from an officer of the bank can mean more than an annual report to the average depositor."

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH was the setting Sept. 19 for the wedding of Miss Alice Eva Michaud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Tweedy and Leif Nelson Jr. The newlyweds will live in Escanaba at 1203 1st Ave. N. (Ridings Photo)

Miss Eva Michaud, Andrew B. Nelson Wed In Seattle

Of wide interest in Escanaba, former home of the bride, is the wedding of Miss Alice Eva Michaud of Kent, Wash., and Andrew Benedict Nelson of Seattle which took place Sept. 12, at St. Anthony's Church in Seattle.

White chrysanthemums and dahlias formed the setting for the 4 p. m. ceremony, which was followed by a reception in the Fireside Room of the Sorrento Hotel.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Michaud, wore a beige taffeta street length jacket dress with a rhinestone necklace and brown accessories. Her corsage was white orchids. A royal blue dress with beige accessories and a corsage of ivory toned roses was the ensemble of her attendant, Miss Annette Conlon.

Mr. Nelson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Nelson, had John Moriarty as his best man.

Following a honeymoon in western Canada the couple will live in Seattle where Mr. Nelson is with the Zellerbach Paper Company.

The former Miss Michaud was a member of the business office staff of the Escanaba Daily Press before she went to the west coast.

How To Wash Luxury Blouse

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Acetate is a favorite fiber with girls who enjoy its subdued sheen, cool (but not clammy) feel, absorbency, and soft, smooth touch on the skin.

You have to be gentle with a garment made from this fiber. It has a delicate look and actually it is delicate. If you have a beautiful peignoir, blouse or other luxury type of garment made from acetate, here's how to care for it:

Wash in lukewarm water only with mild soapsuds or detergent.

If you're using the washing machine, put the garment in a mesh bag. First test for colorfastness. Don't put it in among dark colors.

The garment should be faintly damp for pressing. Acetate dries in almost no time at all.

Press on the wrong side. You want the natural gloss of acetate, not an excessive shine. No heavy-weight muscular pressure on the iron is necessary. Just glide over the surface, with the grain, and the heat will take care of the wrinkles. It should be a very low heat because acetate can melt under a too-warm iron. Finish details on the right side, using a piece of thin muslin for a press cloth.

Your pressing job is over in minutes because you needn't press bone-dry. Air and the slight steam left in the garment will finish your blouse for you when you hang it up (on a padded hanger).

Houghton Editor On Prison Board

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams appointed the new six-member Corrections Commission today to operate Michigan's penal and parole system after Oct. 2.

The commission: Earnest C. Brooks of Holland, present director of the Corrections Department under the expiring law;

Dr. Robert F. Steadman, state controller who retires Oct. 1 to return to his post as professor of business administration at Wayne University;

Dr. Jesse J. McNeil, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Detroit;

Clarence J. Fairley, president of the Grand Rapids Drygoods Co.; Miss Eleanore Hutzel, retired director of the women's division of the Detroit Police Department;

John W. Rice, publisher of the Houghton Daily Mining Gazette.

The six members were named under the 1953 legislative act which abolished the single commission system and returned it to a bi-partisan commission.

Williams listed Fairley, Rice and Miss Hutzel as Republicans, Brooks, Dr. Steadman and Dr. McNeil as Democrats.

They are all subject to Senate confirmation when the Legislature convenes in January.

The governor gave Brooks and Steadman six-year terms, Hutzel and McNeil four-year terms and Rice and Fairley two-year terms.

U. P. Might Be A-Bomb Refuge

MARQUETTE — Upper Peninsula civil defense workers must be prepared to care for evacuees of Michigan's metropolitan areas in the event Michigan's industrial cities are subjected to atomic bombings, was the warning given Wednesday by Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, Michigan Civil Defense director, at the Upper Peninsula Michigan Women's Civil Defense Disaster Conference held in the Northern Michigan College of Education audio-visual auditorium.

Outside of the Sault Ste. Marie locks, said Maitland, there are no targets in the Upper Peninsula for air attacks, and should the Soo be bombed, atomic weapons would not be used, in Maitland's opinion.

Florida Regions Flooded By Rain

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Parts of southern and eastern Florida battled flood waters today and more rain was forecast for all the state.

Some highways were impassable. City streets and sewers were damaged in north Dade County, Daytona Beach, Ormond Beach, St. Augustine and Jacksonville.

Schools in St. Augustine and St. Johns County were closed because rains blocked rural roads.

B. Arnold, manager of the central and southern Florida flood control district, reported Lake Okeechobee at 15.84 feet and said the big lake would continue to rise for two weeks, even without more rain.

Arnold said the flooded Kissimmee River, emptying into Lake Okeechobee, hadn't reached its crest. Lake Okeechobee would not overflow its dikes but a high stage would prevent canals from emptying their loads into it.

Heavy rains flooded some streets in Jacksonville, where 3.08 inches of rain fell in the past 36 hours. Mayor Leo Foley said 40 to 50 homes in Ormond Beach were threatened by flood waters. Hillsborough River north of Tampa was out of its banks for a mile or so but no damage was reported.

Doomed Mother Dies After Baby Arrives

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Colleen Alford, whose two great hopes after she knew she was doomed by cancer were to bear her baby and celebrate her 20th birthday, died at her mother's home today.

Her birthday came two days after doctors delivered her baby girl by Caesarean section July 31, fearful the young woman might not live long enough for normal birth.

Mrs. Alford, wife of an aircraft worker, suffered from cancer of the lymph glands.

Her mother, Mrs. Delman Bacon, reported her daughter "was quite happy in the last hours of her life in company of her baby."

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircraft were in demand today while railroads sagged in a narrowly mixed stock market.

Trading was very quiet, and price changes seldom were as great as a point.

Trading was at a pace of less than a million shares for the entire day. Thursday's total was 1,020,000 shares.

Higher stocks included Standard Oil (NJ), Air Reduction, General Aircraft.

Lower were General Motors, American Telephone, American Tobacco, New York Central, and Illinois Central.

U. S. government securities were steady.

Postman Gives Up In Killing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Several hours after Douglas De Voss, 52, wealthy publisher of metaphysical literature, was shot and killed in his downtown office, Walter Henry Kruse, 53, Minneapolis postman, surrendered to police.

Flanked by three attorneys, Kruse gave himself up Thursday night and was booked on suspicion of murder.

Kruse's estranged wife, Hazel Mary, 45, was quoted by officers as saying her husband had threatened for years to kill her and their son and daughter. The couple has been married 27 years. Mrs. Kruse was employed as a housekeeper by De Voss after his wife, Dorothy, died in childbirth last June.

Employees in De Voss' office told police that Kruse brushed by them and fired three or four shots at the publisher.

His secretary, Mrs. Sunny Widell said De Voss had not met Kruse until last Saturday, when Kruse sought to learn where his wife was living.

Mrs. Kruse told officers her husband had accused De Voss of impeding their reconciliation but that in reality he had been trying to get them back together again.

Action Taken To End Negro Segregation In Veterans' Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House spokesman said today a "complete and thorough analysis" of segregation of Negro and white patients in veterans' hospitals is underway to aid in bringing it to an end.

Maxwell Rabb, White House race relations specialist, said the analysis is being made to work out a technique by which to carry out President Eisenhower's order to eliminate segregation in Veterans' Administration hospitals.

Bitter Battle Rages In Indochina Delta

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—The French Viet Nam drive to unhinge a series of Communist bases in the Red River delta has grown into a bitter battle 30 miles south-east of Hanoi.

The attack was launched Wednesday morning at Hung Yen, the key to a network of defended villages and towns in the delta which the French command wants to break up in advance of the expected Communist drive this fall.

An estimated 50,000 Vietminh are in the delta area, principal French stronghold in Indochina.

NEW DISCOVERY ADDS TO LIFE OF HEATING OIL TANKS

Protects Against Rust, Leaks and Corrosion

The main cause of leaks in your oil storage tank is the rust and corrosion which form inside the tank. Corrosion and rust, which eat through metal, are caused by the normal accumulation of moisture in the tank. For years the oil heat industry has been searching for a solution to this problem.

Now, the Shell Oil Company has the answer! It's SONITOR—a new chemical product that protects against rust and corrosion from the moment it is placed in your tank. If applied in time, SONITOR can double the life of your fuel tank!

Rita Takes Her 4th Honeymoon

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Rita Hayworth and Dick Haymes are on the fourth honeymoon for each of them today following a brief flash-bulb-lit wedding in a gambling resort hotel.

"I feel wonderfully happy," the red-haired bride said after the three-minute ceremony. "I am married to the man I really love. It sounds so wonderful to be called Mrs. Haymes."

The movie star and the crooner fly to New York Saturday and later to Philadelphia, where the bridegroom starts a night club engagement Monday night.

"Our careers, in fact nothing, will ever separate us," Rita declared. She said she'll travel with Haymes on his night club tour. They have rented a house in Greenwich, Conn. Miss Hayworth said she'll commute between there and Hollywood for one picture a year.

The ceremony was performed by Judge Frank MacNamee in the Gold Room of the Sands Hotel. Roulette games and slot machines continued whirling in the nearby casino.

Rita's two daughters, Rebecca, 8, by her marriage to actor Orson Welles, and Princess Yasmine, 3½, by ex-husband Aly Khan, looked on from a divan.

Big Psychology Battle On Korean POWs Postponed

Intimidation Anticipated

The Allies object to individual interviews in the belief that a prisoner appearing before Red explainers might be intimidated by threat of reprisal and other means.

The U. N. holds that chances for coercion would be at a minimum in a crowd.

The U. N. Command says a prisoner should be allowed to refuse to go to the explanations.

Brig. Gen. A. E. Hamblen head of the Allied team of explainers, pointed out that three-fourths of the Chinese "volunteers" captured by the U. N. in Korea are among the 22,600 Red soldiers refusing repatriation.

"In the event these (anti-Communist) prisoners remain loyal to the cause of the free world during the period of explanations by the Communists, we feel that we will have won the psychological battle of our time."

The 23 Americans, 1 Briton and 335 South Koreans listed by the Reds as refusing repatriation arrived at the demilitarized zone Friday, singing the "International" anthem of worldwide communism.

Announcement of their names by Red China's Peiping radio brought reactions of almost unanimous disbelief from their families across the United States. Many felt the man had been pressured into refusing to go home.

There was no indication of what they will be told, but Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East commander, said last week:

"We plan to interview these men and explain fully their rights and privileges as American citizens."

"If I could communicate with these men at this time, I would remind them of the American tradition of freedom. I would assure them of our sympathy for the hardships they have suffered, our understanding of the pressures to which they have been subjected."

Hamblen said at a news conference last week: "We are not going to give any wild promises of immunity. We will assume all men innocent unless proved guilty."

Telephone Rates Are Raised Here

Cost of telephone service for subscribers in the Manistique area this month increased 12 to 40 cents per telephone.

The rate increase was effected by the General Telephone Company of Michigan to provide a revenue increase of $1,100,000, which it unsuccessfully sought in January, 1952 from the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The MPSC decision was appealed to the Ingham County circuit court in July this year and, in an opinion dated July 30, Judge Louis E. Coan ruled that the telephone company should have a revenue increase of $1,070,000 instead of the $660,000 increase authorized by the public service commission.

Said Ruling Confiscatory
Judge Coan instructed the telephone company to post a bond of $1 million pending outcome of a Michigan Supreme Court hearing on the matter Oct. 9, and issued a temporary injunction restraining the MPSC from interfering with the company's establishing and collecting of telephone rates no greater than those requested by the company in its application to the public service commission.

The court order permitted the company to raise about $440,000 more than the MPSC had granted. At the same time, the Ingham county court dismissed a suit of the City of Ludington to nullify the rate increase of $660,000, granted by the public service commission, on the grounds that the service was inadequate.

General Telephone company had appealed the case on the grounds that the MPSC ruling was confiscatory and would fail to attract investors in the company. It has 68 exchanges in Michigan.

Lack Automatic Ringing
During the public hearings conducted in various communities in June, 1952, General Telephone company agreed to improve services in the communities, and to install a larger switchboard in Manistique.

At that time, the switchboard in Manistique was not equipped with "busy tests" nor with automatic ringing devices, Hugh Kennedy, superintendent of the Manistique exchange, reports. The company was assured, he said, after conference with Bell Telephone officials, from whom the present switchboard was obtained, that the board would have automatic ringing devices and "busy tests."

However, the switchboard installed April 20 does not have the automatic ringing device. Cost of installing the devices would be about $30,000, Kennedy stated. He said he did know if this improvement would be made.

Rate Increases Vary
The Michigan Public Service commission was advised that the board lacked automatic ringing devices, before it was installed, Kennedy noted.

Installation of the new switchboard involved retraining of employees and necessitated hiring six additional operators at the Manistique exchange, the superintendent states. "It takes about a year to train a good telephone operator," he added.

The rate revision which became effective Sept. 1, increases one-party business service 12 cents a month, including tax, and two-party business service 40 cents a month. Residence rates were increased 17 cents per month for one-party service, 40 cents a month for two-party service, and 28 cents a month for four-party service. All the rate increases are inclusive of tax.

Met With Council
Bills, based on the new rate schedule, were placed in the mail Thursday, Kennedy said.

The Manistique telephone exchange is staffed with 20 operators, including long distance operators. The exchange here handles its own ticketing and timing on calls to Milwaukee and to the east and west ends of Upper Michigan. In addition to the exchange at Manistique, the General Telephone Company also operates an exchange at L'Anse.

Kennedy appeared before the Manistique City Council in June this year, to ask that he be given time to get new equipment in operation. Later Councilmen met informally with Kennedy and H. F. Emery, division manager from Muskegon, in June and again in July when the company had "fadeouts" on long distance work.

In a subsequent meeting in August with the Manistique City Council, it was agreed, Kennedy states, that the service had improved.

Allowed 6.6% Returns
The General Telephone Company has 1,584 telephones in the Manistique area, including its rural phones. Ten years ago, Kennedy noted, the company had 955 phones in the Manistique area. During the past 10 years, he said, the company has installed a community dial office in Gulliver, has converted its magneto installations to common battery in rural areas, and has extended rural service so all party lines serve 10 or

Physical Growth Is Key To Readiness Of Child To Learn, Speaker Says

Teachers and parents must go "hand in hand" in aiding in the development of children and it is important to remember that no two children are alike, Dr. Helen Tewes of the University of Michigan extension staff told an audience of more than 80 in Central School here Wednesday night.

Dr. Tewes, mother of three children, gave the opening lecture in a series of five on "How to Use What We Know About Children." The lectures are sponsored by the U-M extension service in cooperation with Manistique schools and PTA units.

"The worst handicapped child is the one with a bad personality, and often he is the good-looking one or one who has characteristics most desired by parents," the lecturer noted.

Should Not Compare
She pointed out that teachers and parents must work a long time to change a child and emphasize "that is good." Otherwise, the speaker observed, a strong leader could come in and "carry us all away like the Pied Piper of Hamelin."

A graduate of Kent College, Columbia University and the University of Michigan, Dr. Tewes observed that often one's own child is hard to understand and may not be like either parent.

In the growth concepts formulated at the University of Michigan in research programs dating from 1929, an important one is that no child should be compared with another child—not even his brother and sister—because they "will not be the same," Dr. Tewes explained.

Bone Structure Differs
The mental age of a child can vary by at least two years from his chronological age, and in later years it may be even more, she pointed out. Girls usually are at the mental age of 6 when they begin school and boys 4.

"Consequently, she noted, 90 per cent of the students with reading difficulties in the lower grades are boys."

"I'm sure that's why so many boys don't like school," Dr. Tewes noted. She added that boys usually catch up in later years.

The extension speaker also noted that girls have rounded padded pelvic bones and can sit for longer times without discomfort than can boys or men, who have sharp, straight pelvic bones.

Growth Indicators
The intelligence quotient test should not be used for children, unless the youngster is a problem child, she said. The IQ tests, Dr. Tewes noted, can err by 20 points, usually do to the tester, or the emotional state of the child when the test is given.

Twenty points either way can make a great difference in the interpretation of the intellectual capacity of a child, she pointed out.

Dr. Tewes observed that if an individual used his total mental capacity for 10 minutes, he "would be so tired, he would have to sit down and rest for 45 minutes." Usually, she observed, "we use only about 30 per cent of our mental capacity."

Weight and height gains are important indicators of a child's mental growth, as is the eruption of the second teeth, the speaker asserted. Additional measure of a child's readiness to learn are development of bones in the hand and wrist. "There are 26 of these bones which are undeveloped at less customers, he said.

Since 1946, Kennedy explained, the General Telephone Company has increased its plant holdings from $7 million to $23 million, and most of this is reflected in improvements to existing exchanges, rather than new exchanges.

Under Michigan law, he explained, the company is allowed a return on its investment of 6.6 per cent. The company, Kennedy further explained, operates on invested capital and has to compete with other concerns seeking investment capital.

Council Not Satisfied
The General Telephone Company, one of 152 operating in Michigan, has operated the telephone system in Manistique since 1929. The firm, which has exchanges in 19 other states, in 1953 scaled its budget from $4½ to $2½ million because of adequate returns on its investment, the superintendent said. The 1954 budget now is being drafted in preparation for the fiscal year beginning in January, 1954, he noted.

At the Sept. 14 meeting of the Manistique City Council, the issue of telephone service in the city was raised again and two councilmen stated they felt telephone service in the city had not improved and, if anything "was worse."

No plans have been formulated for further meetings with the council, Kennedy said this morning.

birth," Dr. Tewes explained.

Slow Developers
Often when a child is reluctant to play outdoors with other children, even though he is a successful student, it is because the bones of his hands and wrists are not sufficiently developed so that he can catch a ball and play games, she observed. These children usually have difficulty writing, and often will refuse to use a pencil rather than try—and fail, Dr. Tewes noted.

She also stressed that not all children learn to read in the first and second grade, because of varying rates of growth. It is important not to make the child unhappy in his first years of school, the educational specialist emphasized.

In explaining the relation of physical development to mental growth, Dr. Tewes noted that in early years children alternate in periods of growth, and that a six-month "dormant" period usually precedes a period of growth.

Boys usually follow their mother's growth pattern, and if a woman matured late in her teens, her boys often are slow developers, Dr. Tewes explained. However, they do catch up in later years, she emphasized. Girls follow either their mother's or father's growth pattern, she noted.

In summary, the University speaker urged parents to "remember what you were like when you were their own age," and emphasized that everyone "must be a success somewhere."

Need To Feel Important
She urged parents to plan activities for and with their children, stressing that each child needs to be alone with his mother or father some of the time. Group activities with all of the children in a family are good, but at some time each child should have the undivided attention of his parents, she explained.

Dr. Tewes observed that before marriage women are in competition with the world, but after marriage are in competition with themselves. "Some women don't adjust to that, and after a busy day may feel they have accomplished very little," she noted.

"Both Mothers and Dads need to feel important," she observed.

Study of Delinquents
The extension speaker also emphasized that children need security, and get this from men. "But how can they get it unless they associate with their father and men teachers in the school?" she asked.

Dr. Tewes reported Wednesday night that in a study of 5400 delinquent children in Detroit, it was found that about equal numbers came from the "right" and "wrong" side of the tracks, and about an equal number from broken and unbroken homes.

The one common characteristic found among these children, in questionnaires submitted to the youngsters, was that they had "never been told they were good" and had never "done things with their parents," the lecturer said.

Golf and Bridge Club
The losing golf team was hostess to the Wednesday group of the Ladies Indian Lake Golf and Bridge club this week.

Tournament prizes were awarded at this meeting.

They went to Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur, club champion and Mrs. E. J. Thompson runner-up; Mrs. John Kasun, first flight, and Mrs. Ferd Gorsche, runner-up; Mrs. Carl Carlson, second flight, and Mrs. Barney Johnson, runner-up; Mrs. Glen Pawley, third flight, and Mrs. William Males runner-up. Mrs. LeBrasseur had her name engraved on the championship trophy, which remains in the club house.

Prizes in bridge were given to Mrs. Carl Carlson, Mrs. Alvin Nelson, Mrs. Glen Pawley and Mrs. Helen McGlothlin.

The final meeting will be held next week with the Tuesday group on Tuesday evening. A 7 o'clock dinner will be served by Mrs. William Sheahan, chairman, Mrs. Helen McGlothlin, Mrs. William Males, Mrs. Nick Modders and Mrs. Carl Makel. Reservations should be made by Monday noon.

Natural Gas Wins Support

The board of directors of the Top O' Lake Chamber of Commerce at Manistique this week put its shoulder to the wheel to assist the Upper Peninsula Industrial committee in efforts to bring natural gas to Upper Michigan and to Manistique.

A resolution authorizing "full cooperation" with the U. P. committee on industrial fuels was adopted at the board of directors meeting here late Wednesday afternoon.

The C. of C. directors also resolved that a representative of its industrial committee confer with the U. P. committee at its next meeting, and present a list of potential industrial users in the area.

MPSC Hearing
During the meeting this week, Chamber of Commerce directors heard a report from the Michigan Public Service Commission on the removal of Sunday passenger trains on the Soo Line.

The railroad, Secretary Fred D. Hellman said, has already made application to remove all Sunday passenger trains, and towns and cities along the route are protesting.

The MPSC reported little could be accomplished by interested communities until the trains have been removed, after which it will be in order for communities affected to petition the Commission for a formal hearing to decide necessity for the service.

Lure Books
The Chamber this week also voted to lend its support to the annual Santa Claus party in cooperation with labor unions, merchants and members of the Woman's Club. A meeting will be called early in October to map plans for the event.

Directors also approved an advertising contract for space in the 1954 Lure Book and expressed the hope a picture of the Big Spring would be used. The secretary reported 40,000 Lure Books will be printed this year, 10,000 more than last year.

C. of C. directors also authorized payment of $384 for the "Manistique" signs near Engadine and between Gladstone and Rapid River.

Escanaba Man Gets Contract To Repair Harbor Breakwater

B. J. Gallagher of Escanaba was low bidder on a contract to repair the breakwater in Manistique harbor, the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers reports.

Bids on the project were opened in Milwaukee Sept. 22, according to A. R. Striegl, chief technical assistant in the Milwaukee district. Gallagher's bid to construct a rubble mound short connection was $13,435.

Work will probably commence during the next month, Striegl reports, and will be completed within a few weeks.

The rubble mound short connection will extend from the inner end of the east breakwater, north-easterly for about 230 feet to connect with the shore. It is to be made up of approximately 630 tons of 5-to 500-pound core stone and 620 tons of ½-to 3-ton cover stone.

The proposed structure, Striegl states, is necessary to provide access to the breakwater for servicing navigation aids maintained by the U. S. Coast Guard, and also to prevent further wash of beach material into the navigation channel.

Prevailing high lake levels and accompanying storms and currents have eroded the shoreline in this vicinity for the past several years, the Corps of Engineers reports.

Construction of the mound should reduce the amount of maintenance dredging required in future years, Striegl noted. Dredging costs in the Manistique harbor have increased in the past few years, due to the erosion, he said.

The harbor work here will be under direction of Col. George Kumpke, district engineer.

Grand Marais Men Pay Traffic Fines
Fines were paid in Manistique Justice Court Wednesday by Arthur Nelson of Marquette for two Grand Marais men operating trucks for him.

The fines were imposed following complaint by James Gharidi of Gwinn, state weighmaster. Walter Mixon pleaded guilty to charges of having truck bunks six inches in excess of the legal limits; and Dennis A. Mannila pleaded guilty to charges of having an 8-inch excess in height and 2,450-pound overload.

Mixon's fine was $10 and costs of $5 with alternative of 5 days in jail. Mannila was assessed fine and costs of $30 on the overweight charge and $15 on the excess height. Alternative sentence for him was 15 days in jail.

The offenses occurred in Seney township in July.

THE MIDDLEMAN YOU CAN'T DO WITHOUT

You hear a lot of talk these days about adding costs—doing away with the middleman. There is one middleman who is absolutely essential . . . your pharmacist. When your doctor prescribes medicines only your pharmacist can prepare them . . . only he is qualified in the highly skilled art of measuring and compounding drugs . . . and only he can interpret your doctor's prescription. We take pride in the part we play in protecting your health. You can rely on us to follow your doctor's prescription to the letter, always.

X-Ray Is Best TB Detective

Free chest x-rays will be offered to every person 15 years of age and older in Schoolcraft County from Sept. 30 to Oct. 7, Dr. R. A. Teanran, director of the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department, said today.

"Each of us owes it to himself, his family and his friends, to take a place in the line-up and let the keen eye of the x-ray check the health of his lungs," Dr. Teanran emphasized.

The schedule for the mobile x-ray unit is as follows:
Seney—Sept. 30, 9 a. m. to 12 and 1 to 5 p. m.

Manistique court house — Oct. 1, 1 to 5 p. m.; Oct. 2, 9 a. m. to noon and 1 to 5 p. m.; Oct. 5, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m., and 7 to 9 p. m.; Oct. 6, 9 a. m. to noon and 7 to 5 p. m.; Oct. 7, 9 a. m. to noon.

Tuberculosis is an enemy which can strike suddenly and without warning and is a threat to an individual's well-being as well as his life, Dr. Teanran stressed. The health director pointed out that tuberculosis can invade the lungs and start damage quietly, without the knowledge of the victim.

There are no obvious symptoms in the early stages of TB and the best TB detective is the x-ray, he said.

Five Freighters Make Last Trips

CLEVELAND (AP)—Five old lake freighters, built just after the turn of the century, are making their last trips before they are torn up for scrap.

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. will turn them over to the U. S. Maritime Administration Oct. 1, and that agency has said it will offer them for sale for scrapping purposes only.

The ships are the Munising, Negaunee, Chacornac, Colonel and Yosemite.

The vessels were turned over to the Maritime Commission at the start of World War II in part payment for speedy new ships the government built for the defense effort. Cliffs acquired the present 604-foot Cadillac and Champlain in that deal.

The old ships were to be scrapped then, but because of the war emergency, Cliffs arranged to charter them.

Educator Fired, Says He's Proud Of His Contempt Citation

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dr. Barrows Dunham, fired Wednesday from the faculty of Temple University for refusal to answer questions of a congressional committee, said "no man was ever dismissed for reasons that did him greater honor."

The 47-year-old head of Temple's philosophy department was suspended last March 1 after invoking constitutional immunity in refusing to answer questions before the House un-American Activities Committee.

The university board of trustees announced Dunham's dismissal on grounds "he acted in clear contempt" of the committee.

Maroons Invade Saturday

U. P. Champions Tackle Eskymos

The Escanaba Eskymos return to football action after a two weeks layoff Saturday afternoon, tangling with the Upper Peninsula defending champion Menominee Maroons here at 2:45.

Menominee last year swept through an undefeated season to win the vote of the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association as 1952 champions. They hold the Floyd Barber Trophy, emblematic of the U. P. championship.

This year's edition of the Maroons is a big, strong and deep team that walked over Kingsford 57-7 in its only Upper Peninsula game to date. In the season's opener the Maroons were held to a 7-7 tie by Eau Claire, Wis.

57th In Series
The host Eskymos are winless in two starts this year, losing to Sault Ste. Marie and Green Bay West. Coach Joe Milokna's charges will be shooting the works against Menominee in hopes of upsetting the dope bucket. The Maroons are regarded as too heavy favorites.

The game will be the 57th in the series between the schools that began in 1897. Menominee has won 31, Escanaba 23 and two ended in ties.

At stake will be the Hinker Bell Trophy, a locomotive bell which each year goes to the winning team.

Escanaba will be minus the services of two regulars in the starting lineup. Arni Dunathan, senior center, is out of action with a fractured bone in his wrist. Pat McDonough, senior halfback, will be unable to play because of a back muscle injury.

Band To Play
Two regular starters will also be out of action for Menominee. Dick Ranach, big end, and Nick McDamos, fullback, are on the injured list.

The Escanaba High School band, under the direction of Robert S. Meyer, will perform at halftime. The program will consist of a salute to band alumni in the armed services. Honored will be Bob Vadnais, Bob St. Martin, Dave Zerbel, Roy Starrin, John Jensen, Mary Goulet, Jack Frost, Con Desilets, Arnold Johnson, Curtis Trams and Glen Larson.

Escanaba and Menominee junior varsity teams will meet in a preliminary clash at 12:45 at the EHS gridiron. Officials for the varsity game will be Warren Schuette, Daggett; Werner Schomaker, Oconto, and Cy Simon, Green Bay.

Lions Favored Over Steelers

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (P)—The Detroit Lions open their season Sunday against Pittsburgh and coach Buddy Parker has nothing but regard for the Steelers.

He's not fooled at all by Pittsburgh's last exhibition showing, in which the Steelers were slaughtered by the Los Angeles Rams, 49-6.

"Why, in that game the Steelers had their best offensive players sitting on the bench," said Parker. "With guys like Jim Finks, Ray Mathews and Elbie Nickel sitting on the sidelines, you can't expect to go very far."

"There's no disputing Parker but any way you look at it, his Lions should handle the Steelers. The Detroiters are a veteran team which plays with the hustle of collegians. How can you beat a combination like that?"

Pittsburgh looks like a coming power in the National Football League, but still may be a year away. Finks, who tossed 20 touchdown passes last season, rates high up with Bobby Layne, Lions' quarterback. Mathews is an explosive runner while Nickel, who is starting his eighth pro season, is a shrewd end.

The Lions have some guns, too, and Parker is expected to shoot them all Sunday as he'd like to get off to a good start. He plans drills for his club right up until Saturday.

Spartans Will Play For Keeps Saturday

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. (P)—The question to be decided Saturday is—how will Michigan State play when the chips are down?

Against Iowa at Iowa City Saturday, Michigan State will be shooting for its tenth Big Ten football victory since the Spartans were admitted to the Western Conference.

Michigan State was voted in as a member of the conference in 1949. But the Spartans weren't allowed to compete as a football equal until this year.

Through 1950, 1951 and 1952, MSC won nine games from Big Ten opponents—all the Spartans played. Now MSC will be playing for keeps.

The 38-man squad and coaches flew here from Lansing by Chartered plane Thursday night. A light workout was scheduled this afternoon.

Braves Geared For All-Out Grid Game Saturday Night

GLADSTONE—The Gladstone Braves scrimmaged under lights at the Central playground Wednesday evening in preparation for their game with Marquette at Marquette Saturday night. Tackling, downfield blocking and an offensive punch was stressed.

Team spirit is high and if fight is the determining factor the Braves will be in it from start to finish.

Ed Farrell, Frank Barak and Roger Carlson are doubtful starters because of injuries received in the first three games. "Old Man" Barak has been a bull on defense and his absence will be missed. Farrell is one of the Braves' strongest tackles and it is unknown how long he will be out of the lineup. Carlson has been bothered with a hip injury for several weeks.

Feldt At Tackle
Larry Feldt has been moved to tackle in an attempt to strengthen the reserves. Capt. Duane Peterson will be at left end. Dick "Fireball" Rivers has as much spirit as anyone on the team and makes up with it for what he lacks in weight.

Capt. Peterson and Joe Corbiel were laying in the hardest tackles of the scrimmage session and Coach Don Protenhauer is hoping they'll have a few like them to throw at Nystrom and Vandenberg on Saturday. Also looking good on defense were David Stock, Chuck Burton, John Quinn and Wayne Cassell.

Corbiel, Bob Burton, Francis

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Bill Holm, Manistique Emerald halfback who starred in last week's 13-0 victory over Gladstone, shares the scoring lead in Great Lakes Conference football with the Soo's Duane McGill. . . He has scored three touchdowns in two games to date.

The Soo Blue Devils not only have a revitalized grid program going this year, they also have the fans to back it up. The Devils played before the largest crowd in history at the Soo last Friday night when they beat Newberry 12-6. . . A total of 2,670 fans paid their way into the game.

See where the New York Giants have discontinued their working agreement with the Oshkosh baseball team of the Wisconsin State League. All players on the Oshkosh roster have been reassigned to the Giants' Olean, N. Y., team in the Class D Pony League with the exception of Dave Garcia, manager. . . John Martinac, ex-St. Joe athlete, who signed a 1954 contract with the Giants early this summer, was reported being groomed for the second base position at Oshkosh for next season. . . Reason the Giants dropped the agreement—lack of interest and support by fans.

Speaking of baseball, Newberry's Joe Villemure paced his team to the Central Baseball League championship during the recent season by batting a hefty .417 for the year. Newberry closed the season with 11 straight victories for a season mark of 14-2. Five other players on the team, Charlie Villemure, Jack Londo, Don McIntyre and Boyd Freeman, hit over .300 for the campaign.

And Morley Fraser, ex-Newberry High School football coach, made news downstate when he was greeted by 200 grid candidates at the beginning of football practice at Lansing Eastern. Fraser's team opened the season last weekend with a victory over Saginaw Arthur Hill.

Peterson and Jim Bratonia ran wild for the first team scoring numerous long runs.

Dangerous Runners
Both Burton and Bratonia, two scat backs, are capable of going the distance if they get a few blocks to help clear the way. Walter Houghton, soph fullback, backs power and speed in practice.

While the Braves will be underdogs because of Marquette's decisive victory over Ishpeming, the boys know that anything can and sometimes does happen in a ball game. Gladstone has gone against Marquette with good teams only to lose by a break.

In 1951 Gladstone outgained Marquette 15 first downs to 3 and 285 yards to 68 only to lose 6-0 on a 67 yard pass interception. Breaks in the past three games have gone against the Braves. Maybe this Saturday things will change.

Bloomington meets Detroit this afternoon and the winner will play Clearwater tonight. If Clearwater wins, the tournament will be over. If Clearwater loses, another game will follow immediately to determine the championship.

Clemson College football coach Frank Howard says his line of work is fine "if you like riding on a roller coaster!"

Emeralds Seek Revenge In Clash At Newberry

MANISTIQUE—A fight to the finish is in store Saturday afternoon when the Manistique High School Emeralds seek to avenge their only defeat of the season in a second match with the Newberry Indians.

The game is scheduled at 2 p. m. E. S. T., on the Newberry gridiron with Dick Schram and George Ruwitch of Escanaba and Wallace Cameron of Gladstone officiating.

Starting line-up for the Em-eralds, who three weeks ago lost to the Indians 19-6, will be as follows:

Jim Swartzstrom, RE; Ed Busch, RT; Orville Erickson, RG; Robert Corson, C; Warren LaBar, LG; Elroy Mersnick, LT; Francis Laurion, LE; Don Tiglas, QB; Bill Holm, LHB; Don Anderson, FB; Bob Smits, RHB.

The Green and Whites have been polishing up on blocking and tackling this week, and some new plays have been added in the hopes of stopping the Indian running attack.

The 'Stique Emeralds this season, their second under Coach Richard Bonifas, have chalked up wins over Stephenson and Gladstone and lost only one, to Newberry.

Their 13-0 victory last Friday over Gladstone gave them their first Great Lakes Conference win.

This morning, at a school assembly, Manistique High School students were to pick their 1953 football queen from a field of nine candidates. The Emeralds later will select a football king, and there two students will preside at festivities for the annual booster game, with Munising here Oct. 2.

Gromek To Hurl Against Indians

CLEVELAND (P)—Needing as few now two victories to nail down an assured sixth-place finish, the Detroit Tigers will open a three-game series—the last of the season—with the Cleveland Indians tonight.

A single victory here, plus a Philadelphia loss to Washington's Bob Porterfield (21-10) tonight would serve the same purpose. Both the seventh-place A's and Detroit have only three games left and the Tigers lead by two games.

Manager Fred Hutchinson, anxious for a sixth-place finish, nominated Steve Gromek (7-8) to oppose the Indians, who have bowed to his slants twice since trading him to Detroit in mid-June.

Gromek has won four of his last six starts, a rookie infielder, during the Cleveland series, but he suffered a spike wound against the St. Louis Browns Tuesday and was left in Detroit.

Bob Miller, 18-year-old "bonus baby" pitcher, was hit by a batted ball in the St. Louis encounter and is unlikely to work here.

Unearned Runs Give Kansas City Edge

TOLEDO, Ohio (P)—The Kansas City Blues were well on their way to becoming the American Association entrant in the "Little World Series" because of the unearned runs they've scored here against Toledo's Sox.

In the best-of-seven series opener Wednesday night, the Blues got three unearned runs and won 5-2. Thursday night three Toledo errors enabled them to get the tying and winning runs in the ninth for a 9-8 victory.

Toledo made five errors—three by all-star shortstop, Billy Klaus.

Trap Shooting Event Will Be Held Sunday

All sportsmen looking forward to the duck and bird season opening Oct. 1 are invited by the Delta County Sportsmen's Club to enter the "Hunter's Special" 10-target trapshoot to be held on Sunday at the Sand Point trap layout. The shoot will begin at 9 a. m., and will continue all day.

At least one pause in the clay pigeon busting will be taken to witness an exhibition by L. W. "Bill" Johnson, Remington Arms Co., marksman.

The "Hunter's Special" is planned to give the breaks to the novice. Gunners are urged to make up their own squads of five, but squads will also be made up on the ground where every effort will be made to place shooters of equal ability together. Shooters may enter as many times as they wish.

A prize will be given to the high gun in each squad. Winners will be handicapped one yard each time they win.

Because there has been so little trapshooting in the area for a long time most of the entrants in Sunday's events will be first timers. Very few of the sponsoring club's members are experienced. For that reason, instruction will be given any who wish it.

Sunday's trapshoot is the opening event in a "Gun Days" program which will also include a gun clinic at the trap grounds from 4 to 6 p. m., on Monday and a meeting of the club in Carpenter's Hall at 7:30 when Bill Johnson will talk and show the movie "Gunning the Flyways."

Canadian Knockout Artist In Action

NEW YORK (AP)—James J. Parker, lanky Toronto heavyweight knockout artist, and Jimmy Slade, No. 5 light heavyweight contender from New York, fight a 10-rounder tonight at the St. Nicholas Arena. Starting at 8 p. m., CST, the scrap will be broadcast ABC and telecast NBC.

The 6-3, 200-pound Canadian will have about a 25-pound weight edge on the Bronx Negro. Parker's record is 23-4-2 with 21 kayos. Slade's record is 16-6-4 with three knockouts.

Keynoter Wins In Pacer Race

DELAWARE, Ohio (P)—A brown colt which wrote a storybook finish to Thursday's "Little Brown Jug" was hailed today as the best of this country's 3-year-old pacers.

Apparently hopelessly out of it after losing the first two heats of the $54,971 classic, Cleveland George H. Tiplin's Keystone grabbed the third mile dash and then defeated two other heat winners in an extra jaunt to pick up $21,255.

Keystoner, the pre-race favorite, finished sixth in the first heat, which was won by Newport Chief of Plainfield, N. J. In second was Hillsota, owned by F. R. McNabb of Ithaca, Mich., which went on to win the next heat a length ahead of Keystoner.

Then in the third, Keystoner, driven by Frank Ervin, leading Grand Circuit driver of 1952 from Aiken, S. C., broke out of the pack to nip Hillsota by a neck in a great stretch drive.

Wayne (Curly) Smart of Delaware piloted Dutch Dandy to eighth place in the first heat and then drew the horse.

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—The Pacific Coast League San Francisco Seals are going to be in action next year under league ownership. The wobbling PCL club's millionaire owner, Paul I. Fagan, announced Thursday that he had sold the franchise and players to the league.

An unidentified Sacramento source placed the price at $100,000.

Two Big Ten Games On Tap As Season Opens

CHICAGO—The Big Ten conference opens its 58th football season Saturday with two league games and six other conference members meeting non-league foes.

The top conference attraction goes to Iowa City where the Hawkeyes get first crack at Michigan State, the defending National champion. Some 50,000 fans will watch the Spartans open a new era in their long gridiron history as they start Big Ten play. Coach Biggie Munn's crew also lays a string of 24 straight wins on the line—the Spartans' last defeat goes back to Oct. 7, 1950, when Maryland upset them.

Bucks Rated High

In another Big Ten game at Columbus, Ohio, Indiana opens its 69th football season against a highly-rated Buckeye squad. Coach Bernie Crimmins' Hoosiers last year gave the Ohio lads a bad scare before bowing 33-13.

In what appears to be the feature non-conference attraction,

57,935 fans will pack Owen Field in Norman, Okla., to watch Notre Dame open its 65th football season against the University of Oklahoma Sooners. A year ago at South Bend the Irish came from behind in the fourth quarter to defeat Oklahoma 27-21.

In the first gridiron meeting of the two institutions, Michigan and the University of Washington battle at Ann Arbor. The Washington Huskies were outpointed 21-20 last week by Colorado.

Penn Faces Badgers

Northwestern inaugurates its 1953 football season before about 35,000 at Evanston against a strong Iowa State team that opened last week with a 35-0 triumph over South Dakota.

At Champaign, Ill., the Illini's 64th season of intercollegiate football starts with Nebraska as the guest in a non-conference test.

In other games, Penn State invades Wisconsin to open the Badgers' season; Missouri entertains Purdue; Minnesota goes to Southern California, and Marquette, a midwestern independent, meets a rugged Cincinnati team in a night game Saturday in Milwaukee.

Television Rhubarb

There's been a rhubarb about limited television, too, as excited fans who couldn't be there demanded a look. It will be broadcast nationally on four major radio networks but TV will be limited to an Oklahoma City station.

The coaches, two of the most successful in the business, have taken opposite stands on the platoon question.

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson, who had coached only under the platoon system, favors the change. Notre Dame's Frank Leahy wants the platoons back. Wilkinson built his one-platoon team about the remains of last year's defensive regulars. Leahy, with more choice in the matter, strung along with his offensive players.

Two Two-Way Men

Of the probable Oklahoma starters, J. D. Roberts, the strong man of the line, and fullback Max Boydston were two-way players last year. But Boydston did his playing at end. Both ends, Carl Allison and Kay Keller were defense men, Allison at halfback; so was tackle Doc Heaton and halfbacks Jack Gog and Larry Grigg. Alternate quarterback Gene Calame was a defensive end.

Nine of Notre Dame's 1952 defense platoon—the group that ruined Oklahoma—are back this year. But only a couple are listed as starters, notably hard-hitting Dan Shannon who was switched from line-backer to end.

Four Backs Back

All four backs, Ralph Guglielmi, Joe Heap, Neil Worden and All-America Johnny Lattner were on the offensive platoon along with center Jim Schrader, Capt. Don Penza at end and tackles Frank Varrichione and Art Hunter.

Along with these conversion woes, the coaches have been suffering and shedding tears publicly over injuries. Both have predicted their own defeat, although Notre Dame was made a one-touchdown favorite by most selectors.

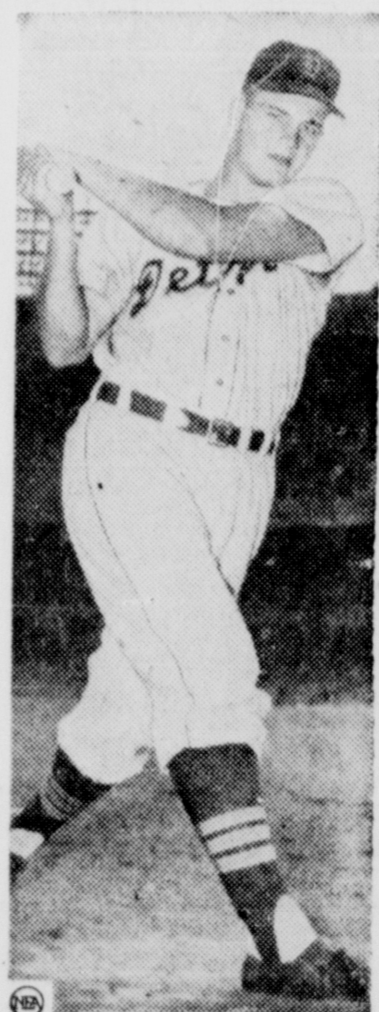

Sport Shorties

Michigan State's all-time career scoring record is held by Lynn Chandrois who scored 31 touchdowns in four seasons of play.

The highest one-day attendance at the Atlantic City race track was 31,378 on Aug. 23, 1952.

The heaviest player on the roster of the New York football Giants is center Johnny Rapacz who tips the scales at 260 pounds.

Duke University quarterbacks Worth Lutz and Jerry Barger, battling for the first string job in the Blue Devil backfield, are cousins. Andy Parko, outfielder for the Milwaukee Braves, is an accomplished accordion player. His specialty is the polka.

Rocky Retains Ring Crown

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Roland LaStarza had the heart but Rocky Marciano had the guns, and so the human block of granite from Brockton, Mass., still holds the heavyweight championship of the world.

Few fighters have taken a more brutal beating than the ex-collegian from the Bronx absorbed Thursday night before referee Ruby Goldstein stepped in midway of the 11th round at the Polo Grounds and cried enough. LaStarza was outclassed and almost defenseless for the final four rounds.

Today, a year and a two days since he pulverized Jersey Joe Walcott at Philadelphia to win the title, Marciano has no rival of real stature. He must be accepted as one of the great champions.

Nothing Stops Him
Rocky proved Thursday before an awe-struck crowd of 44,562 that there is nothing to hold him off once he starts moving forward and throwing those oaken arms of his.

Early in the 11th round, Rocky pushed his bleeding rival against the ropes and with a lethal succession of left-right-left swings to the jaw slammed LaStarza to the canvas for the first knockdown of the fight. LaStarza rose on his trembling legs well before the count of nine, but as Goldstein wiped his gloves clean and sent him forth again it was evident that the challenger had made his bid and failed.

Again the Rock barreled in, throwing both fists. When it was evident that LaStarza could not defend against the furious attack, Goldstein leaped to save him.

For nearly four full rounds before that the crowding, relentless champion had been in full charge. He first had hurt LaStarza seriously in the seventh when he slugged him into the ropes and for the last two minutes pounded the hapless challenger all over the ring almost without a return. Only LaStarza's fighting spirit enabled him to weather the punishment.

The eighth, ninth and 10th rounds followed much the same pattern. LaStarza was bleeding copiously from a cut at the corner of his right eye which had been opened in the first round, and a cut on his nose. He fought back spasmodically landed flush on Rocky's chops, but he might as well have been using a pea-shooter.

On this score card they were dead level for the first six rounds—two for LaStarza, two for Marciano and two even. Referee Goldstein had it even, too, and the two judges gave the challenger an edge to that point, partly because Goldstein took the sixth round away from the champ for a low blow.

Loser LaStarza Calls Champ Great Fighter

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—Hailed as a "great fighter" by his latest knockout victim, Roland LaStarza, heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano aimed his lethal onslaught on Ezzard Charles today as his next possible opponent in a rapidly dwindling field.

Charles, the former champion, was tabbed next by Manager Al Weill "providing Ezzard makes up a couple of his defeats."

Charles was upset in succession by Cuba's Nino Valdes and light heavyweight contender Harold Johnson. The loss to Johnson Sept. 9 was by a split decision.

10th Straight Kayo

No matter who gets Rocky next, few will envy the challenger his opportunity. The unbeaten, 29-year old champion racked up his 10th straight knockout and his 40th kayo in 45 fights when he bombed out LaStarza via the TKO route in 1:31 of the 11th round.

"He's a great fighter," said the 26-year old Roland in his dressing room. "He's definitely a better fighter than when I fought him before—5,000 per cent better."

The swarthy, powerful Marciano, was just a ring novice when he edged the college-educated LaStarza in a split decision 10 rounds-3½ years ago.

"Boy, he sure busted me up," said LaStarza to Dr. Vincent Nardiello. The physician needed four stitches to sew up a gash over LaStarza's right eye and minor attention to a cut on the bridge of his nose, in his mouth, and to bruises about his left eye.

Needed Patchwork

Refusing to alibi and giving Rocky credit for everything, the New Yorker said any fouling the champion did was unintentional.

"I wouldn't say he butted me," the gallant loser said when questioned about Rocky's obvious nifty tactics in the second round. "The punch he hit me after the bell didn't affect me, either. The low blow in the sixth (which cost Rocky the round) didn't bother me. He was just too much for me."

"I injured my left arm in the second round but please don't think I'm trying to alibi. He's a great champion."

Changed His Style
Dr. Nardiello said he believed LaStarza suffered a hemorrhage inside the muscle of the limb. He planned to take x-rays today.

"I changed my style of fighting in the seventh round, otherwise I may never have done it," said the jubilant, unmarked Marciano. "I had been throwing my overhand right (and missing often with it). About the sixth round I felt I was behind the was on the score-cards of two officials) and I said to myself 'better get going.' So I concentrated on hooks and combination punches. That was the difference."

From the gross gate of $435,817 and approximately $125,000 additional for the theater network television Rocky collected $194,749 while Roland received $78,191.

Three Batters Have Chance In National

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The final three games may determine a surprise National League batting champion while the potential winner sits in the dugout nursing an aching hand.

The laurels probably will go to Carl Furillo, the Brooklyn Dodgers' right fielder. Furillo hasn't played since he broke the little finger of his left hand in a free-for-all at the Polo Grounds Sept. 6. He ended his season with 165 hits in 479 times at bat, an average of .345.

Three Have Chance

But three others still have a fighting chance. They are Red Schoendienst, the switch-hitting second baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals; Duke Snider, Furillo's center field teammate, and Stan Musial of the Cardinals, the defending champion and six time batting king.

Here's what they would have to do to catch Furillo, figuring that each will get 12 more times at bat:
Schoendienst needs seven hits. This would give him an average of .348.
Snider needs nine hits. His average then would be .3457.
Musial needs 10 hits in 12 times up to finish with .346.

Cards Face Cubs

Schoendienst and Musial will be playing their three games against the Cubs in Chicago. Snider will see action at Philadelphia.

All of the clubs were idle Thursday. Tonight in the American League, Boston is at New York, Philadelphia at Washington, Detroit at Cleveland and Chicago at St. Louis.

In the National League the Cardinals and Cubs play a day game in Chicago, Brooklyn is at Philadelphia tonight and New York is at Pittsburgh. Milwaukee and Cincinnati get another day off.

See Bowl Tieup For New Atlantic Coast, Big Seven Circuits

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A football bowl tieup between the Big Seven Conference and the new Atlantic Coast Conference may be reached next week.

If the pact is concluded the champions of each league would meet annually on Jan. 1 in the Orange Bowl at Miami in a setup similar to the Rose Bowl alliance between the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conferences.

Reliable sources said Big Seven Conference faculty representatives are expected to sign the Orange Bowl agreement at a meeting here next Monday and Tuesday.

Big Seven teams are Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas State and Iowa State.

In the Atlantic group are Maryland, Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina, Wake Forest and Clemson.

Bob Amos New State Boxing Champion

DETROIT (AP)—Rangy Bob Amos, a Detroit Negro, is the new light heavyweight boxing champion of Michigan.

Amos, weighing 174½, climbed into the long-vacated throne by outpointing Arthur Wright, 171½, Detroit, in the televised 10-round feature at Motor City Arena Thursday night.

Amos' victory climaxed a series of elimination bouts and was sanctioned by the Michigan Boxing Commission.

Persistence Pays Off For Michigan Gridder

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Persistence is paying off for Bob Topp, the blond, 6-foot-2 end from Kalamazoo.

Topp has been assigned a starting berth for Michigan's 1953 opener against University of Washington Saturday.

Through junior varsity football and the reserves, Topp has impressed with his pass-catching ability.

But it is only in the last two seasons that he has developed in blocking and tackling. He has now reached the point where he is the best all-around bet for the left end job on the varsity.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan put his squad through the last pregame heavy drill Thursday. Pass defense again was emphasized. Reserves equipped with Washington plays showered the varsity with pass plays, several of which clicked.

The Detroit Lions have two Bannons boys—brothers Vince and Vic. They have two Harts, Leon and Gerald, who are not related and two Spencers, Oliver and Larry, also not related.

Vivian Truman Goes On Pension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Appointment of Mayor Herbert E. Stader, of Sedalia, Mo., to succeed former President Harry S. Truman's brother Vivian Truman as Federal Housing Administration director for western Missouri was announced today.

The announcement by Commissioner Guy T. O. Holliday of the agency said Vivian Truman has resigned. Stader's appointment is effective Nov. 9.

An FHA official said Truman is entitled to a civil service lifetime pension of $2,128 a year since he is more than 62 and has been with the agency 18 years.

In addition, he said, Truman is entitled to a lump sum payment of $2,141 for 608 hours of annual leave accumulated as of Dec. 31, 1952.

Vivian Truman was appointed assistant director of the Kansas City regional office of FHA Oct. 15, 1935, while Harry Truman was a U. S. senator from Missouri. He was named director for western Missouri in 1946 while his brother was president.

Sen. Ferguson Favors Limit On Foreign Aid

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Senator Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) would limit U. S. foreign aid to the giving of military equipment and technical advice.

He told the 88th convention of the Michigan Medical Society Wednesday night that foreign aid given by the Truman administration amounted to "overseas boondoggle projects."

The chief of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he also favored transferring the responsibility of administering foreign aid to the Defense Department from the Foreign Operation Administration.

Pay-As-You-See To Start On TV

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pay-as-you-see television starts operating early in November in Palm Springs, Southern California winter playground of the wealthy.

If you're a consumer you dial channel 6; the picture is scrambled and jumpy. An announcer tells you what the attraction is. To buy, you drop enough coins into a plastic box atop your set to total the designated price. Then the picture becomes clear and steady.

First-run movies will be the initial attraction on the new system. The first may be "Forever Female," a $1,250,000 film starring Ginger Rogers and William Holden. The picture was made by Paramount, which has a half interest in International Telemeter Corp., manufacturer of coinbox TV.

The same film will be shown the same evening in a Palm Springs theater. Either way the viewing price will be the same, perhaps $1.10 or $1.25. But home, televiewer's backers point out, a whole roomful of people can see the show for one admission price.

"Telemeter," says its executive vice president, Carl Leserman, "will offer something better than a sponsor can afford. If it is used in volume, we feel we can give movie producers 75 to 90 per cent of the return. That's why producers are so interested in it."

He said all major Hollywood producers but one have indicated a readiness to provide first-run films for televiewer.

As other coin-in-the-slot attractions he envisions professional and college football, boxing matches and Los Angeles Philharmonic broadcasts.

War Goods Salvaged

SEOUL (AP) — Nearly eight million dollars worth of equipment and materials has been salvaged since the July 27 truce from former Allied battle positions now in the demilitarized zone of Korea, the 8th Army said today.

The salvaged equipment is being stockpiled or used to construct new Allied battle positions.

Distillers Starting Battle Of Blends To Woo Consumers

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Whisky makers are starting a bitter battle of the blends.

Between now and the year's end—the period in which liquor men usually chalk up 40 per cent of their annual sales—dealers will be wooed with better profit margins.

Consumers will be wooed with gimmicks and extras, mostly eye appeal—but with very few price concessions.

Sales Slipping
For some distillers it's a matter of trying to crawl out from under an embarrassing over-supply of whisky in their warehouses.

Straight whisky has been selling well, but sales of the blends of whisky and neutral spirits have been slipping in recent years.

For some of the lesser-known brands it could be a fight for survival. Dealers complain that in the 20 years since repeal an overabundance of brands has hit the market. Now the big boys are out to play for keeps.

One and all, distillers lay most of the blame for the slip in whisky sales on the federal tax of $10.50 a gallon which makes whisky look forbiddingly high priced to many folk. But something must be done if they're going to move all that liquor out of the warehouses.

Fancier Containers
Here's what a sampling of some of the nation's 239 distilleries are up to this fall in pushing sales of the higher-priced blends—mostly those in the $4.50 to $5 a bottle class.

Schenley Reserve is out in a fancy decanter—at the same price as the old round bottle. This device pepped sales of some of the straight liquors.

It'll cost Schenley money. The bottles cost more; bottling lines had to be changed; transportation costs are higher. But Schenley's director of merchandising, Don Goldstein, says the decanter already has perked up sales so that he predicts the best season in years.

Back in 1947 Schenley Reserve was the sales leader at eight million cases a year. Last year it had slipped to below three million cases. The decanter will be pushed until the holidays. Then the old round bottles will take over again.

Advertising Increased
Seagram's Seven Crown, the big postwar gainer and now the pace setter at eight million cases a year, is launching its heaviest advertising campaign in history and has expanded its sales force. It says: "No gimmicks," but insists it is confident of holding its place.

Calvert Reserve, second-place seller at slightly under 3½ million cases, and its running mate, Lord Calvert (now approaching the one-million case a year mark) will be out in another week in their holiday garb.

But they have another gimmick—called the home bar carton—which this summer caused in on the popularity of gin and tonic.

Calvert puts a bottle of whiskey and a bottle of gin in the same carton (the same idea as putting three soap bars in a package). The carton contains drink recipes and also bottle cappers for soft-drink mixers. Calvert says this has sold whisky to a lot of fin fancier.

Polio Cases Show Increase For Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — New polio cases reported last week totaled 2,158, an increase of two per cent over the 2,112 in the week ended Sept. 12, but only slightly more than half as many as the 4,170 in the corresponding 1952 week.

Despite the increase after three weeks with slight decreases, the Public Health Service reiterated today that it expects the total number of cases this year to fall below 40,000. Last year a record 57,879 cases were listed.

The peak week thus far for 1953 was 2,251 cases for the period ended Aug. 22.

Thus far this year there have been 24,615 cases, compared with 35,440 in the similar 1952 period.

There were 26 deaths from poliomyelitis reported over the nation last week.

Rock PTA Will Begin Meetings For New Year Monday

ROCK—The first regular meeting of the Rock PTA will be held Monday, Sept. 28, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Rock High School.

Chairmen of the year's committee will be announced as selected at an earlier meeting of the executive committee. Planning of the program and projects for the coming year will be discussed and planned.

President Arne Johnson will give a report on the training program for mental health, a meeting which he and several Rock PTA members attended at Escanaba last week.

Mrs. Albert Weldum will report briefly on the PTA Workshop which was held in Marquette in July, while Mrs. John Jokela will give a brief report on the mental health conference which was held in Escanaba in May.

A good attendance is urged. Anyone interested in children and cordially invited to attend. An invitation is also extended to the members of the Board of Education.

At the close of the meeting, lunch will be served by the executive committee, and a special "welcome teachers" social hour will follow.

Whistling Wings Calling Michigan Hunters Oct. 1

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Associated Press Outdoor Writer

The call of whistling wings, scampering wild feet and the bright Michigan October by now is almost too strong to bear for nearly a quarter million expected to start hunting this Thursday.

The state's first major hunting seasons open on Oct. 1, at 6 a. m. for bow and arrow deer hunting and upland small game in the north, and at noon for waterfowl.

The majority of the hunters will be in the northern Lower Peninsula and the Upper Peninsula to start the season on ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed grouse, prairie chicken, rabbits and hares.

Snip-Season Limited

Hunting along with these thousands on the northern uplands will be the select few who go after woodcock. And this year, for the first time in many years, jacksnipe hunting will be permitted, starting too on Oct. 1.

The jacksnipe shooting, however, is limited, ending Oct. 15. The woodcock population is figured to be holding up very well and should provide as good shooting as last year. Jacksnipes at one time almost wiped out, have increased enough to permit the limited season, but still they will not be numerous enough to provide very much shooting.

Even though the grouse population is reported starting down on its mysterious cycle, some 100,000 were expected to begin the shooting. A few thousand others will be out after the other upland species.

Foliage Heavy
Grouse will undoubtedly be scarcer in many areas, but field observations show there are plenty of pockets where the numbers have apparently stood up rather well. The problem is going to be to find these pockets.

The opening day upland hunters are going to be hampered by too heavy foliage again this year. The leaves have not even started to fall to any degree in the Upper Peninsula, much less the northern Lower Peninsula.

But the leaves are turning color. Their gaudy hues will at least partly make up for the advantage they give the game.

The archers, who can begin hunting deer anywhere in the state on the big day, will find the leaves as much a disadvantage as the bird hunters. They will find, however, just about as much game as last year except for a strip across the Lower Peninsula. This strip, lying roughly between M20 and M55, was a little over-shot by gunners during last year's deer season in the northern Lower Peninsula.

The strip has been closed to all but buck hunting in the coming gun deer season.

Shooting Day Longer
Archers again this year were expected to increase considerably. The estimated total is 30,000. They will again be permitted to shoot any deer they see except in Menominee and Chippewa counties where they are limited to bucks.

On the basis of past experience, however, only about six per cent of the archers will be successful, so no one is worried about their depopulating the woods.

The second biggest wave of hunters, nearly 100,000, is expected to open the season on ducks, geese and other waterfowl.

Experts say the numbers of flight ducks are down but that an increase in local ducks will just about make up the deficiency.

The local ducks can be expected to migrate South before half of the 55-day season is over, so it appears that you will have your best chance for success early in the season.

The biggest change in the waterfowl season this year is an hour's extension of hunting every day. The closing hour has been set back from one hour before sunset to sunset. This alone probably will mean an increased take on both ducks and geese.

Wailing Cat Shaved
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "He's positively bald," a woman told Detective Lt. Walt Turner Wednesday "I want something done about it."

She explained that her neighbor had shaved her Persian tomcat and "He can't go out without any hair on."

The neighbor admitted the deed, complaining he couldn't get any sleep because of the cat's wailing. Turner says he's checking to see if there is a statute against shaving a wailing tomcat.
